When such a mobile fortress, carrying nearly a thousand men, is sunk in a few minates by a torpedo fired from an unseen submarine, the swiftness and completeness of the tragedy shock the world, and the helplessness of the huge ship against such a stiletto-like blow from the depths may well stir the question: "Is not the dreadnought's day done?" This question has been asked before more than 10 years ago, when the Whitehead torpedo, the ancestor of the savage slayer of today, first appeared. The British Admiralty of that time answered it with the announcement that England would build no more battleships; that the new weapon would drive them from the seas. And yet in the years since then, although the automobile torpedo has made marvelous advances in speed, range and deadliness, the battleship has more than held its own in its steady progress from the primitive Monitor type to the superdreadnoughts and battle cruisers of our time. Today both England and Germany are building drandnoughts with furious energy, and the General Board of the United States navy said in its last annual re-

The primary function of a battle fleet in war is to gain and hold command of the sea, for that command means that the enemy's fleet will be penned up or destroyed, that his military expeditions for invasion dare not put to sea, that his fast cruisers cannot escape to ravage the trade routes, that his ports will be blockaded, his merchant marine swept from the ocean and his overessions isolated and reduced. All this and more the British fleet has done.

England's naval mobilization a day before war began found the German fleet momentarily unready and virtually imprisoned in its home ports. No one except Admiralty officials and the German spy system knows the exact location of Admiral Jellicoe's force. It may be on the north coast of Ireland, in the Orkneys or elsewhere. By PROF. CATHCART. ESPITE its limitations, the great value of the submarine at this time in coast defense is unquestionable. That it will soon serve with fleets on the high seas seems wholly probable. As Admiral Winterhalter put it, "the ultimate goal of submarine construction is high speed under water," in a boat which, when submerged, can charge the enemy's column.

To reach this goal the discovery of new motive power may be necessary. Thus far no way has been found for consuming or expelling the products of combustion from oil engines that does not leave a wake which destroys the invisibility of the submarine.

ost potent agents in defending these ports and the adjacent coast. That militarily, they have done relatively little else is due to the fact that in its present development the submarine is primarily but a coast defender. Simon Lake, the Nestor of submarine designs, says in the Scientific American:

"To intercept a battleship at sea even a highspeed submarine must lie in wait, perhaps for days or even weeks at a time, much like a gunner in a 'blind.'

Hence a very large force of submarine of long. radius of action would have been required to cover the great war area formed by the 1700 miles of British coast line, and to prevent the raids on the Bight of Helgoland, the mine sweeping in the North Sea, the struction of the Bluecher and the transport of a million British troops to France. The other leading events of the war-the sinking of Von Spee's squadron, the Emden and the Dresden, and the transport of large forces of troops from the wide world over to England and the Dardanelles-were all distant, high seas work which the submarine on these high seas and in its present development, could not possibly prevent. And yet even in action in restricted areas the undersea fighter has not shown itself all powerful. As witness the comparative immunity of the great allied fleet-about 90 units in all-assembled at the Dardanelles, although bombarding warships, steaming slowly, are easy prey for submarine. In less degree this is true also of England's great fleet. After major operations of the British fleet has been six months of this war an English authority estimated that for every hit on a warship German submarines had made 90 misses.

The inaccuracy is not the fault of the torpedo which is almost unerring, but of the difficulty in Seas to these boats. Large submarines of recent aiming it. The little cigar-shaped submarine boat -21 inches in diameter and 21 feet long in maximum sizes-is launched by compressed air from a torpedo tube on a battleship or a destroyer, or in a submarine. A pressure diaphragm within it, operating a horizontal rudder, holdes it at a predetermined depth. Gyroscopic mechanism, actuating a vertical rudder, keeps it absolutely true to its course. Its speed, range and weight of explosive depend on the uses for which it is designed-long range work from battleships or close quarters fighting by submarines. The modern Whitehead torpedo, carrying 230 pounds of explosive, has a range of 11,000 yards at an average speed of 30 knots. The English 18-inch travels at 46 knots for 1000 yards. SUBMARINE IS PRIMARILY AN AMERICAN INVENTION HE submarines serving in the world's navies are of all ages from 1898 onward and present many variations in details of contruction. WHY THE SUBMARINE SELDOM SCORES WITH THE TORPEDO HE dimness of twilight and dawn, fog and the rough surface of a choppy sea all favor submarine attack. Even in other conditions the boat can scarcely be distinguished five or six miles away. Apparently the submarine should have fair chances of success with so accurate a projectile as the torpedo, if its aim were not frequently defective.

Take the question of sight and distance: If tangent to the curved surface of the sea be assumed to sweep around from the top of a periscope with the maximum exposure of 20 feet it will describe a sea horizon having a radius of 10,000 yards, which is thus the limit of the submarine's vision. At this distance a dreadnought is to it but a dot filling one degree-1-360th of its horizon. To find and fire at such a speck makes long range work very unreliable and also decidedly costly with torpedoes at $8000 or more each. So the submarine is perforce a close quar-

When the enemy is sighted, six miles or more away, the submarine commander takes his bearings, withdraws his periscope and by the gyroscopic compass steers an accurate course to within torpedo range, preferably 500 yards. Then the periscope is exposed just enough for aiming and the torpedo is fired.

The latter is aimed by pointing the boat, which is the torpedo gun. For a moving target and with torpedoes capable of angle fire the angle between

NEVER DOUBTED THAT ITALY

WOULD ASSIST THE ALLIES T Ujvidek, the southern headquarters, I was the guest of a royal Prince, who had been sent there to repair the consequences of another man's blunders. This was Archduke Eugene. Chosen to replace Potiorek after the latbusy reorganizing the forces serving under him and in preparing the monarchy's frontiers against the day on which Italy would throw down the gauntlet to her former ally.

The new commander and the men about him the monarchy in the Eternal City.

In Vienna I had heard it said time and again that Archduke Eugene was the most popular of all the royal Princes. In Ujvidek I found that he was paying very little attention to those things which make for popularity. He had already won a reputation as a strict disciplinarian, but the rank and file had learned that he would not ask anything of them which he himself was not willing to perform.

Officers in camp are generally a jealous lot of people and much given to criticism of their superiors. Those in Ujvidek, however, had a good deal of genuine respect for their new commander Royal blood counts for much in Austria-Hungary. Then, too, the Archduke is a soldier with the traditions of soldiering in his blood. The responsibility of royalty would, they believed, make him careful and considerate of those serving under him. The thing perhaps which impressed them most was the fact he was proceeding slowly and cautiously with the work of reorganization, and was acting as if the war had not yet properly

From the standpoint of appearances the three royal brothers have nothing in common. Archduke Frederick is short in stature and of that distinct blond type which is found so frequently in German lands. The Archduke Karl Stephan looks like a lean and gaunt native of New Hampshire and has a good deal of the Yankee in his manner and general makeup.

Archduke Eugene is at least 6 feet 6 in his stockings. His eyes are dark and he is of the Spanish rather than the German type. Oh, that God would raise up for Europe, in this crisis, a few statesmen who will be dominated by similar sentiments of pity and compassion for their fellow men and that national selfishness and brute force will not be the paramount considerations in arranging future terms of peace.

"We heard a good deal, at the beginning of this war, about consulting races and people as to their own futures. I fear that altruistic declarations of this character will be entirely forgotten and that unhappy Europe will have a new assortment of inflammable materials when this struggle comes to a close,

"I wish here and now, too, to express the conviction that the responsible Ministers of this monarchy were guiltless of any wish or desire to bring on this world war. History will place the responsibility where it properly belongs, but we soldiers, in the meantime, must do our duty. The path of duty, as I see it, is plain and simple. At Volks, however, the monarchy's troops won a signal victory and the mere fact that we have 60,000 Servian soldiers in our prison camps is an evidence that our troops have more than held their own in the struggle passed that Russia's offensive power has been broken and that her plan of campaign has been

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT.

"Vergeudet mehts, sogar der Abfall ist Futter fuer neues Leben." (Waste nothing-even garbage is food for new life.) These potential words uttered in Mannheim in July, 1872, by Prince von Bismarck, in his instruc tions to the Prussian rural inspectors, mark the economic policy, which now is bearing fruit in Germany, and which might well serve as an object lesson to all nations.

That corps of inspectors has since then traversed the length and breadth of the land, teaching the farmers to utilize every inch of ground in intensive farming; to waste nothing in nature and because the Germans are engaged in war with art, and to husband the substance of the nation. Country as well as town have learned the lessonhits from the meal are recompounded into new viands, until the last vestige of substance has been utilized; so that there is practically no garbage and the absolute offal is gathered periodically by serve as manure for the incoming season.

Every leaf that falls, every weed that is pulled, even the grass from the lawns is collected to augment that manure heap.

Dead branches, rusty nails in discarded lumber and the dulled and rust-eaten plowshares are again used in some form or other.

Other nations cast into the alleys and garbage cans what would feed half a people, and consume a flames a vast portion of its substance.

Bismarck also laid great stress on savings ac counts in the "Regierungs Sparkasse" (Govern ment savings institutions), and thereby taught the common man individual self reliance, so that the very first day "out of a job" may not find him staring penury in the face, or compel him to seek support from the common coffers, through

The German can make a possible living on little more than one-half of the food consumed by others; and this lesson now comes in good stead. Even from a purely economic viewpoint, aside from sheer necessity, this practice cannot fail of excellent results, as it multiplies national as well

The present cataclysm finds every German wom an and child of school age self-sustaining, and husbanding the national substance.

Economy has been translated from academi heory into life practice.

And so ad infinitum.' "They tell us now that aviators flying around over the water can see submarines at great depths, particularly when the sea is calm. It seems that the submarine betrays itself to the aviator by coming anywhere near the surface. Imagine the peril of such a position. The aviator, with his trusty bomb, follows the submarine around, waiting for it to come up and use its periscope. The submarine, meanwhile, cannot see the airship at all. It is at a terrible dicadvantage, and as aviators are better equipped with explosives adapted to their advantage, submarining must become the most hazardous

"The submarine, except when it comes to the surface, is as blind as a bat. Unless that blindness can be remedied, it is not going to be the factor in naval war we have supposed. One of our old sayings of something easy is that it is 'like shooting fish,' and sinking submarines from airships is going to be that easy. If you have noticed, there is always a profound silence from any given part of the sea for a while after a submarine has been active. What does that mean? I'll tell you. It means that aviators went out after that cubmarine, and that they either sunk it or drove it into safer fields. We have no means of knowing how many such boats have been destroyed, but probably a great many. The submarine has probably had its heyday, and the world goes on. Like everything else, it has now not only to look out for the enemy, but for itself as well."

REAR ADMIRAL DILLINGHAM IS VISITING IN ST. LOUIS

Was an Officer on the Nashville in Spinish War and When it Dropped

Anchor Here.

Rear-Admiral Albert Caldwell Dillingham, U. S. N., retired, is visiting his son, Capt. Albert R. Dillingham, of the Twenty-third Infantry, who is stationed at Jefferson Barracks and is renewing his acquaintance with St. Louisans, whom he met during the memorable visit of the Nashville to this city in

Lieutenant-Commander Dillingham, as he was at that time, was executive of-ficer of the Nashville, which ranked as a third rate cruiser, or a light draft gunboat. The Nashville had the honor of having fired the first shot in the Spanish-American War, when she sent a ball across the bows of the Spanish

a ball across the bows of the Spahish merchantman Buena Ventura, afterward taking her as a prize of war. She siso was the boat which cut the cable, under heavy fire, at Clenfuegos.

The Nashville's visit to St. Louis took place in the spring after the war's close, when military and naval interest was high throughout the Mississippi Valley. The Mississippi also was high, and the Nashville, arriving here May 10, 188, remained five days before starting on the return voyage to New Orleans. During that time, Lieutenant-Commander Dillingham, who was second in command, was prominent in the civic and social functions in honor of the ship's officers and crew.

In 1904, he was in charge of American affairs in Santo Domingo waters, and

Picture of Girl 5 Years Old Is Picked Up by Woman in Garden at Alton.

A photograph, believed to have been blown from St. Charles to Alton, a distance of 14 miles, in the windstorm which swept over St. Charles Wednesday afternoon, was found by Mrs. Waldo Fisher in the garden of her home, 503 Summit street, Alton, after the storm. The picture, a portrait of a curly-haired girl about 5 years old, bears the mark of a St. Charles photographer. Mrs. Fisher sent the picture to the Post-Dispatch in hope that publication will result in its identification and enable her to return it to its owner.

italian Garden and Pergola Ready for Visitors-Next Indoor Displays Next Fall.

The Linnean, or English Garden of the issouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden, which was planted at the beginning of this season, is now a source of information to the amateur gardener. It is in the north end of the main garden, surrounding the Linnean House. The plants are perennials, such as found in English gardens, and the beds are formal, after the manner of English plant

The Italian Garden and the Pergola have been completed. The planting of the garden is strictly formal and the Pergola forms a delightful resting place backing on the Wlid Garden, which is now a riot of wild flowers.

In the Nepenthes House is an interosting collection of sensitive plants. In the Vanilla House is a fine collecion of Rexbegonias.

There will be no more indoor floral lisplays until October, when the chrysanthemums will be shown in the new Flower House. The fuchsias, beconias and hydrangeas and other plants which formed the last display are now planted outdoors and the Flower House is being rectnstructed to fit the require-ments of its mext tenants—the succu-

CONTRACT LET FOR STEEL FOR FREE BRIDGE EAST APPROACH

at Price Estimated at $1,035,000.

The contract for approximately 23. 000 tons of steel for the construction of the east approach of the free bridge was let by the Board of Public Service Friday to the American Bridge Co. It is estimated that the contract will amount to $1,035,000. The steel will be furnished at a price of 2.165 cents a pound.

The bridge company will maunfacture most of the steel in its plant at 1014 South Vandeventer avenue and it is expected that it will em-ploy from 150 to 200 additional men in the plant.

The Pennsylvania Steel Co., which bid approximately $40,800 higher than the American Bridge Co., sought to have its bid considered because i offered to furnish the free use of equipment which it estimated would be worth $50,000. The Board of Pub-lic Service concluded the use of the equipment would be worth only $15.

Summer-Spoiled Skin

Removed by Absorption As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, red-ness or roughness, often freckles, too, the sensible thing to do is to remove such rface. There's nothing better for this an ordinary mercolised wax, which ac-ally absorbs an unwholesome com-plexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed, gently, gradually, so there's ne inconvenience, no detention in-doors. Spread the wax lightly ever the entire face at bedtime and take it off in morning with warm water. If you get one eunce of mercolized wax at drug store, use it for a week or so, may expect marked improvement

TELLS OF BIG WORK DONE BY RAILROADS

Ouestion Whether They Will Be Ready to Serve People in Next Business Uplift.

The Post-Dispatch has received a copy f an address made by Howard Elliott, president of the New Haven Railroad. and a former St. Louis railroad official, at Peterboro, N. H., last Monday. The address was a lengthy one, and was in part of a historical and patriotic character, in part a discourse on the Americanization of new citizens, and, in chief, a discussion of railroad problems. "A very grave question today," he said, "is whether, under present condi-

the people when the next great uplift in business comes. It is not only a material question but a social and mora! one. "Today, from one cause or another, more than 30,000 miles of railroads, with securities of $1,815,900,000, are in the hands of receivers, and several other great railroads are on the ragged edge. In 1896, when times were so very bad, there were about the same number of miles and the same amount of capitalization in the hands of receivers. This, it is needless to say, is not a healthy

What Railroads Have Done. "Instead, of late years, we have attacked them and have criticised this wonderful transportation machinery, while those in other lands have realized that the work of the American railroad builder, owner and employer has been marvelous; and this in spite of the mis-takes incident to the great task of building and rebuilding 250,000 miles of railowl since the Civil War.

"One reason for the suspicion and dis-favor is that in the struggle to build railroads and to make fortunes in the process, a few men-and only a very few of the thousands of high-minded men in the business-did things that are not now considered right and proper-and were not right and proper then—but were in accord with the accepted spirit of the times. Similar practices were in

I believe a fair valuation of the properties, following the principles laid down in various decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, wil show this to be the case. This wonder ful machine that serves the country should not be condemned, crippled and rendered unable to prepare for the future because of a limited amount of un-wise financing and unsuccessful management in the past.

Problem of Legislation. Another present-day problem is that of legislation. Because of some mis-takes by railroad owners and managers, and by those engaged in other forms of corporate business, the suspicion and disfavor, of which I have spoken, dereloped, and a class of critics has grown up in this country who have made a living by agitation and by advocating unnecessary legislation. "Probably a large number of the alleged evils would have gradually corrected themselves and the country vould be far better off with less, instead of more laws. For example, in 1913, 1895 bills were introduced into the legislatures of the various states and 230 became laws, all relating to the details of practical railroad operation, most of which would be better left to the men trained in the business. "There are about 4000 Legislators national and state, and during the last sessions of the national and state legislatures 43,403 pages of laws were en-acted, covering 20,510 chapters and 151,-083 heads of sub-heads.

"During this same period there were 28,000 decisions by courts of appeal, and

I further believ that sooner or later some plan will be evolved by public opinion that will bring about a satisfactory adjustment of this great and complicated labor problem.

BABY, YEAR OLD, SENDS $3 TO ICE

Became Member on Day He Was Born - Through Father Again Contributes.

The past week was marked by activ in behalf of needy babies of St. Louis, and the Post Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund accordingly increased. Future endeavors in the same direction will greatly tide over the trying summer

In a letter from Secretary Nortland of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission enclosing the June bill of the commis sion, he writes that "the work is steadily increasing and the amount of free

When Arthur Kendall Muchmore, son of Dr. A. M. Muchmore of 5991 Minerva avenue, was one day old, his father states, he became a member of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice League, by sending in his contribu tion. Now, on his first birthday, and after enjoying a year of good health, he sends in his dues so he can keep in good standing and help at the same time some other baby to enjoy good health. Arthur fixed his own dues at $3. Five little girls in the 4400 block of Evans avenue gave an ice cream festival for the benefit of the fund. They realized $11. These energetic supporter of the cause are Misses Blanche Klein, Ruth Epstein, Blanche Jacobs, Ruth Gracesky and Lucille Hohne.

$30,000 Worth of Coats, Suits, Skirts, Waists, Dresses, Petticoats and Millinery Will Be Sold at Prices Never Before He of in St. Louis—Every Department Shares in This Ruthless Slaughter of Prices.

SINCE our advent in St. Louis the purchasing of our merchandise has been carried out so conservatively that we have been able to grasp opportunity that the Eastern markets afforded for seasonable merchandise—which we purchased at 66 2-3, 50 and 33 1-3% on the dollar, may sound ridiculous, but with the unseasonable weather and the position in which we found ourselves to buy merchandise has given us opportunity to grasp these offerings. And every dollar's worth of merchandise that we have is placed in this bargain feast to match the rulous purchasing prices taken advantage of by us in every department.

Some Officers Think Congress Will Provide for 50 or 75.

TOTAL NOW NEARLY 70

Experiments With Armor to Resist Torpedoes Delays Work on Superdreadnoughts.

WASHINGTON, July 10 .- The next building program for the United States navy will include estimates for nearly double the number of submarines appropriated for by the last ession of Congress. From officials in close touch with the Administralearned that while the General Board would wait until September before making its recommendations, at least 30 and probably more submarines certainly would be requested.

Some naval officers of high rank who are being consulted think as many as 50 or 75 submarines would not be too many, but those who are taking into acount the necessity for enlarging other parts of the navy program believe a conservative estimate of the number which will eventually be agreed upon is about 30 of nearly 70 in commission or building. Within two years the total, it is estimated, may be brought up to

Daniels Favors Increase. Secretary Daniels, it is understood, favors a large building program, believing that in the development of lies the most important task of the navy today. The action of the last Congress in appropriating for 16 sub-marines when only eight were asked for is believed to have given the Secretary confidence that the next session of Congress would be even more generous in its grant.

While the attitude of President pullding is not definitely known, those who are familiar with his views on the navy in general, formed since Consists of 4 assorted sizes and well tempered.
Special 39c the outbreak of the European war, will not be much surprised if he approves an extraordinarily large program for the construction of underwater craft.

The importance of submarines for the United States, not so much in its ffensive strength against enemy battleships and cruisers, but for defense of lengthy coast lines is appreciated by the President, it is understood, and he plans to examine closely the entire question in conferences with Secretary Daniels before the estimates for 1917 are finally submitted.

New Engines Investigated. Information is being gathered abroad by the experts of the Navy Department concerning the latest improvements in the underwater boats. ropean countries have been able to manufacture submarines rapidly has 10c been because of their development of he industry of making internal combustion oil-burning engines. Experiments are being conducted by the navy for the use of electric batteries in propelling submarines for subons and it is believed that when the General Board is ready to make its report next September the number of submarines recommended will depend almost entirely upon the number of batteries and engines that can be manufactured.

Greater efficiency than has been achieved by any foreign navy confi-dently is predicted by high naval officers for American submarines as a result of the batteries which are to be introduced. Already Secretary Daniels has announced that all sub-marines built will be equipped with one or more disappearing guts for surface action and a school devoted entirely to the training of officers and crews for submarines now is in opera-

While the development of the sub-marine is being worked out, plans for the two superdreadnaughts provided for the two superdreadnaughts provided for by the last Congress are being delayed pending the results of experiments now in progress with defense against tor-pedoes. Secretary Daniels said today Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the Bu-reau of Construction and Repair, was directing the series of experiments, using rmored calssons to represent battle-

Guns Not Decided Upon. Guns Not Decided Upon.

It is said the thickness of armor necessary to withstand the explosion of the most modern torpedo and also the amount of hull subdivision required to keep a ship afloat after her bottom has been torn open by mine or torpedo are the problems on which navy officers are

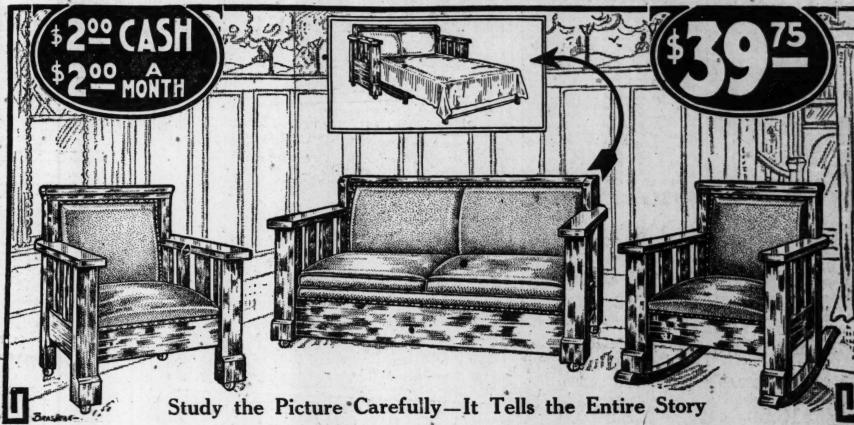

Aspoint to be determined is whether the new ships shall carry main batteries of eight 16-inch rifles or of 12 14-inch weapons each. The new 16-inch rifle, the largest ever designed for naval use, has proved satisfactory, it has been stated, although no details of its performance have been made public. The big gun has a greater range and strikone gun has a greater range and striking force than the 15-inch weapons of the newest battleships of foreign nations. There is also, however, a tremendous increase in weight, making it necessary to reduce the number of guns carried.

Some officers believed the present 14-inch gun, which has a range beyond the reach of vision at sea and tremen-dous hitting power should be retained for the new ships because 12 can be nounted on each ship as against eight

The Lack of Spare Rooms

In the modern flat and apartment has created a pressing demand for just such a Parlor Set as this. This "Divan-Bed" Parlor Set permits you to turn your parlor into a bedroom at any time an extra bed is needed-and still maintain the dignified appearance of your parlor all day long.

The Divan-Bed Parlor Set

Presents all the style and appearance of a handsome Parlor Set by day— it's a beautiful Davenport, Arm Rock-er and Armchair—yet the "Divan-Bed'' Davenport can be instantly converted into a large-size bed—as broad and comfortable as any bed you could imagine.

The Construction

All of these three pieces are rich and beautiful in design—made of solid oak in natural finish, showing the beauti-ful grain of the wood. The workmanship throughout is of the best, and every piece can be relied upon to give years of satisfactory service.

The Upholstering

All three pieces are richly upholstered in a fine quality of imitation leather
—a fabric that looks exactly like real leather—and will give you better service, as it does not peel or crack as real leather often does.

The "Divan-Bed" Davenport

This handsome Davenport is made on an entirely new principle—the spring, mattress and bedding are under the seat and come into position when the seat is turned, so you do not sleep on the upholstering. Has broad, comfortable springs, which support the mattress when the Davenport is open as a bed.

A Bed in 4 Seconds

You are going to be particularly pleased with the ease with which this Bed-Davenport can be opened into a full-size bed—it is almost automatic in action—works so easily that any-one can open it—and yet is so simple in construction that it can never get out of order.

The Price $39.75

Judged from every standpoint—this Divan-Bed Parlor Set is one of the most remarkable values we have ever offered—we urge you to see it—ex-amine it carefully—judge it for your-self—we know you will be as enthu-siastic over this outfit as we are.

A vision comes of rhubarb pie, Of currants bright and red; He knows he'll fill his cellar From his fertile turnip bed.

He works at early morning With his little hoe and rake, And whistles while he does it, Though the labor makes him ache.

Home he hurries in the evening And he works a little more, And when he hits the mattress He is feeling pretty sore.

At last in summer time he feasts Just as he dreamed he would; The lettuce it is dandy And the Lima beans are good.

But they come not from his garden, Sad it is to set it down; They were bought at fancy prices From a grocery man in town.

Citizens Inaccurate in Charges Against Board of Curators, Lawyer Says.

Nardin denies that President Hill of the university has done everything in nis, power to cripple the School of Mines as charged by the Rolla cftizens. Nar-din charges that Campbell and Rucker are more interested in the real estate owners and the boarding house keepers of Rolla, than in the School of Mines as an educational institution. Nafdin ex-pressed doubt that the Legislature has authority to enact a law directing the Board of Curators as to what they shall do with respect to prescribing courses for any of the schools connected with the university.

HOLDS WELSH CHURCH BILL BROUGHT WAR UPON ENGLAND

Clergyman Points Also to Titanie and Empress Disasters as "Warnings"

to Country. LONDON, July 10 .- Some Church of England clergymen are convinced that this war, or at least England's participation in it, has been caused by the assage of the Welsh disestablishment bill. And they attribute the terrible losses she has suffered in the war to the same "iniquitous" measure. Conspicuous among them is the Rev. Z William James who has published his views in flamboyant poster form which ne sells for a penny. Here are some extracts from it: England has put on her statute book the Welsh church bill which proposes acrilege. Sacrilege means ruin! God has uttered three warnings. On the has uttered three warnings. On the bill's introduction—loss of the Titanic (1500 lives), terrible railway disasters—awful pit accidents—alarming strikes.

On its second and third reading, loss of On its second and third reading, loss of the Empress of Ireland (1000 lives)threatening civil war. On its passing-ss of three cruisers-(1200 lives) Mr. James goes further than this. He assumes the role of a prophet. England. he declares, is doomed if she sticks to the Welsh disestablishment bill. Or other hand, she will win the wa and reap honor and glory from it if she takes the bill off the statute book.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS INSTITUTED BY DRUG CLUB

"Catch-the-Pill-Rollers Contest I Expected to Bring Total to

The St. Louis Drug Club, which has membership of 250, has instituted a contest to boost the total to 500 by Aug . The campaign is heralded as a 'Catch-the-Pill-Rollers' Contest," mean ing thereby that a snare is to be laid for every druggist in the city. It has been estimated that 2000 St. Louisans are eligible, and these will be bombarded with catchy "literature" and besieved with visitors until enough of them join By way of adding zest to the undertaking, prizes have been offered to those who succeed in bringing in the most new members. An eight-page publica-tion, "The Drug Club Roster," is being issued regularly. The contest will close with a banquet and cabaret. If the 500 mark is reached, the club's boosters see visions of a downtown club, roperly fitted. Mayor Kiel, former Mayor C. P. Walbridge and T. W. Van have indersed the movement and promised to help the campaign. Frank J. O'Neil of the A. H. Lewis Medicine Co. is president of the organisation.

17,000 MEN WORK IN NEW GUNCOTTON

Du Pont Works, Created by European War, Has Grown Up Since Last October.

RICHMOND, Va., July 10 .- The new Va., now has about 17,000 men on the payrolls, and last week the output reached 750,000 pounds a day. As recent-ly as last October the plant did not exist. The plant soon will have 20,000 men on its payrolls, and building con-struction is being pushed with this ob-

Today the United States, for the first time in its history, possesses within its borders the facilities for turning out enormous supplies of guncotton for the defense of the coasts and the arming of torpedo craft. Before the advent of the City Point plant recourse was had to the small Government shops at New-port and Indian Head, and to a small branch of the Du Pont works at Wil-mington. The combined output facili-ties of the three plants as they existed in August last would not have met the requirements of one week of war conditions such as have been developed by the present great struggle in Europe.

The new works are concerned with the prospect of being handicapped by lack of shipping facilities as the output capacity continues to mount higher day by day. The problem is one which will demand, it is believed, recourse to water freighting by way of the James River direct to ships off Newport News.

In the personnel at City Point there are at present about 2000 Russians, 1500 Rumanians, 1000 Italians, and the remainder is made up of natives.

very similar to those at a boom town. Fighting is common at night, and what is needed now, it is declared, is an efficient police system. Conditions, it is hoped, will improve when the management is less pressed with considerations having to do with the erection of new buildings and installing of machinery.

The mechanical arrangements of City Point for the manufacture of guncotton are the most modern known. Practically all the guncotton being turned out is for use abroad—in torpedoes, mines and high explosive shells.

The compressing of the guncotton effected mechanically true as to density. size and weight. The density depends upon the percentage of moisture in the cotton used at the Du Pont works. This is determined accurately by mechanical measure. Under the new system the charge for the war head of a Whitehead torpedo is compressed in one block. This is a new method, since in past practice large charges were built up by means of small blocks. Secondly, those small blocks did not exceed eight or nine pounds in weight.

In the new works the guncotton is worked up from pulp in a way to expel all air from the mass. The pulp then is worked up to produce a strong and homogeneous block, The City Point works use heavy cylinders in which the guncotton is threshed out by means of shafts fitted with screws like a marine propeller and aided by agitators. Friction gearing serves to agitate the mass completely by working not only the shafting but the cylinders. The pulp goes into the cylinder in a semi-liquid state. In the cylinder the water is drained off and the action of the screws presses and beats the pulp. All the time there is hydraulic pressure being exerted which drives off the water and carries air with it, the action being similar to that of squeezing a sponge.

The cylinder at the Du Pont works makes the guncotton blocks of the exact sizes required for the torpedoes or mines. When forming an 18-inch Whitehead torpedo molded charge the length of the solid guncotton block is about nine feet.

The only danger in the manufacture of guncotton by the mechanical process lies in the possibility that in pressing the guncotton in a cylinder or mold there is a chance that a part of the material may be trapped between the ram-head and the side of the mold. Under the great pressure to which it is subjected the guncotton may become dry, and in such case the heat from friction might lead to an explosion. To meet this danger the new machine has a protective apparatus whereby the guncotton, if any gets by the side of the ramhead and the mold of the cylinder, auto-matically is sprayed with water and

Advantages in New Process. It is found that in building the guncotton up in solid blocks to torpedoes 20 per cent additional guncotton can be forced into the war head when a solid charge is used, as compared with the built up charge system.

There are important advantages in forming shell charges or torpedo charges in one block after the new process. Owing to the expulsion of air in the process of formation, the hydraulic pressure in forming the charge can be considerably less than in the old method, although larger blocks are made. No space is wasted as with built up charges, the saving in this re-spect affording about 15 per cent more guncotton than under the old method.

The uniform density of charges obtained by the process gives more com-plete destruction of the entire mass, and the quality is emphasized by the presence of a uniform amount of that theoretical density, it is declared.

In the cost of manufacture it is estimated that there is a saving of fully 5 per cent. Guncotton has been compressed by the new presses to as high 7 specific gravity as 1.523, whereas the hitherto technical fimit was 1.4.

CURES ASTHMA

Eight Typewritten Pages Define Curator of Germanic Museum at Harvard Publishes His Letter to Bartholdt.

Kuno Francke, curator of the Ger manic Museum of Harvard University. has placed in book form the letter which he wrote Jan. 28 last to Richard Barholdt of St. Louis, then a member of Congress, declining to take part in the so-called "neutrality" movement, in Hog and all the other freak kinds of dancing, and sets down the rules of which Bartholdt has been conspicuous.

on her partner's arm, not on his shoulder or back.

The man must encircle his partner with only one arm. A dance hall inspector will interpret the rules and decide on the program.

No public dances can be given in residence districts unless the property cowners living near by consent. No girls under 17 can attend public dance unless property chaperened. No couples will be admitted after an hour to be fixed, and no intexticable liquors can be served.

The dance ordinance is one of the strictest ever drafted in this city, and covers eight closely typewritten pages.

It must be interpreted to Bartholdt, Frot. Francke declined an invitation to attend a conference Jan. 30. He asked that the letter be read in the conference question. Freak or immodest dances

It goes into every phase of the dance question. Freak or immodest dances that are characterized by the improper swaying of the body are subject to severe fines. Not less than $25 and not more than $500.

thought to be to force our Government into a hostile attitude toward England. "Your circular letter speaks of England as "America's arch-enemy." It calls for a "new Declaration of India-pendence," which is to "eliminate all undue English influence from our American life." And it protests "against the continued traffic in arms and ammunities of the which practically arrays tions of war which practically arrays "I do not wish to emphasize the fact that the produmation of an embargo en arms and ammunitions of war would be an allogether illusory thing. Arms and sems and ammunitions of war would be an almosther illusory thing. Arms and other implements of war would, if our cocannt too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified coceannt oil (which is pure and eatirely greaschess), is much better than seap or anything else you can use for ahampooing, as this can't possibly is jure the hair.

Simply meister your hair with water and rub it in. One or two tearspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanese the hair stud scalp thereughly. The lather riuses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and essy to manage.

You can get mulsified encument oil at most any drug store. It is very cheep, and a few ounces in enough to last everyone in the family for menths.—ADV.

ther chapter of Prof. Francke's book, entitled "The Duty of German Americans," is a reprint of an article which he contributed to The Fatherland. He says Americans of German descent should not be expected to listen in silence to denunciations of Germany as "a brutal militarist autocracy." It is their duty, he says to combat such expres-aions as that of ex-President Elliot of Harvard, to the effect that "the United States could not allow Germany to van uish the allies."

Would Refrain From Propagands. But, he says, it is also their duty to efrain from a violent anti-English prop-ganda, and from exerting any pressure ipon the United States Gov favor Germany in the war.

"Many Americans," he writes, "wheth or or not in sympathy with Germany, revertheless regret the ahipment of terms which is now going on. Yet they neutrality principles, good or had in-trinsically, in the midst of war, will ecessarily be taken as a meas

gyor of one or another of the belligerents. The attempt, therefore, to force our government into declaring an embargo on arms would either, if unsuc-cessful, needlessly embarrass the administration, or if successful, plunge the country into a war which it does not want. Does not this situation contain the clear lines of conduct toward the American Government to be followed by German-American citizens?" In a chapter on "The United States as a Peacemaker," Prof. Francke expresses the belief that the territorial status of Germany, as it existed before. the war, including colonies, should be maintained and that the United States should use its influence to that end in the peace settlement. He also urges that the United States should stand, as he says Germany has stood, for the immunity of private property at sea. Another demand on which he expects the United States to stand with Germany is for a definition of contrabant of war which will exempt all articles destined for the consumption of the civilian population. "If the United States and Germany, at the end of this war," he writes, "ahould succeed in incor-porating the freedom of the sea into the permanent law of civilized nations, they will have benefited mankind, in spite of the war." ecture at $t, Luke's M. E. Church. The Roy. G. L. Granger will lecture or "In the Beginfling," at St. Luke's M. E arch, Texas avenue and Poto

The Buy-In-St. Louis League will hold a "Buy-In-St. Louis Week," Oct. 4-9. Three hundred thousand invitations will be issued by the Business Men's League, signed by its president, Edward Hidden. asking the merchants and manufacturers all over the United States to visit St. Louis at that time and buy their goods. Mayor Kiel will be asked to issue a proclamation for the week.

The week has the indorsement of the Eusiness Men's League, the Sales Maragers' Bureau, Conventions Bureau, the St. Louis Advertising Club, and other commercial and civic organizations. The rewill be a number of attractions—the revival of the old St. Louis Fair, Velled Prophet Ball and celebration, the Automobile Show and several minor expositions and conventions. The merchants, retail and wholesale, and manufacturers, will make an especially attractive display of their wares in their shops, sample rooms and factories.

City Affords Unequalled Market. Faul J. Wielandy, vice-chairman of the Euy-in-St. Louis League, tells why St. Louis is one of the greatest markets in the United States in population and commercial importance, "said Wielandy. Roads, Railways, Factories. and Set to Work.

WARSAW, June 24.—In this city, a ity entirely Polish and Jewish, one gets occasional indications as to how the ommon people relate to the war. These ndications do not confirm all that is written of the enthusiasm of the people; but they do not show that among indi-vidual peasants and workmen and sometimes in whole villages or class-groups, the war is popular, and that these individuals and groups would make any pernal sacrifice that is necessary for suc-

Nine out of 10 peasants have no comorehension of the war; and no determiation, enlightened or unenlighteded. They are, as Russians say, not "conscious." The tenth peasant is "conlous;" and he almost certainly suports the war.

Indications of peasant enthusiasm for he war come here in the shape of volthe war come nere in the same are interes, military and civillan. There are columner transport drivers from far-off columner transport drivers from the Volg. and ovinces like Saratoff on the Volge, and renburg in the Urals. These are men who wanted to serve in the army, and ho are physically fit. Tens of thousands of such men are rejected, because Russia's trouble is not lack of man, but lask of officers, equipment and the organization necessary for the handling of a bigger army than she has already in

"Compulsory Volunteers." The volunteer transport drivers—small, shaggy men, with sharp faces—told me, hat they were "compulsory volunteers." "What is that?" They explained that their Village Council had volunteered on behalf of all the able-bodied men in the village; and had commanded the individ al male villagers to volunteer. The villagers expressed consent; obey-ing a decree which had no validity in aw. They turned up together at the nearest conscript center, and were resected as soldiers. There were too many soldiers. T'e mujiks persisted that they had been ordered to help their country; that they were willing, and that the de-A remarkable offering in our Women's cree of the Communal Council was compulsory on the military authorities. In the er's, some of the volunteers were taken as transport drivers; and good trans ort drivers they make.

A considerable proportion of men now in the field are volunteers. If the Government could train and equip all men who offered to volunteer since the war hegan, it would have 2,000,000 extra men in the field. The cause of this patriotic in the field. The cause of this patriotic impulse is the self-education, and the mpulse is the seir-equivation, education by others, in war matters, of Little War Frenzy in Cities. The war frenzy of the big cities is about over. But the remote peasant, who had no war frenzy last August, is waking up. The townspeople care less for the war than they cared before, and in secret, though they fear to say so, heartily wish it were over. This is be The war frenzy of the big cities is neartily wish it were over. This is bethe peasants-at least the growing number of "conscious" peasants-are ready to fight, to make monetary sacrifices, and even to oppose efforts to bring the war to an end. The mass of ignorant. unconscious" peasants are inert, and do not oppose; and there is no sign of any reasoned opposition to the war. This to Russia is a factor of strenge There are many volunteers in the There are many volunteers in the renches and the relief depots. They differ from the conscript mujik soldier.

A proportion are men of education; all are "conscious" in the sense that they have distinct notions of the war and ideas, often bizarre, but always defnite, of its aims and its course; and there are warlike mystics, with adumwith pretty white batiste hemstitched collar | brations of great events and Messianic reformations which victory will bring. The mystics mostly come from the orthern forests. They believe that this is the last war; that it is the Armaged-don which humanity has awaited for Women's White Swiss Negligees, in both loose and belted models. Some have the Quaker collar, 2000 years; that it is controlled by a special Providence, and that Russia will win, of course. There are prophets among the mystics; they have followers; a cult, and even rites. In some of the armies south of here has spread the dogma of "Pervareion" (Sovietshoption) version" (Sovrastchenie). "Perversion" is the invention of the soldier Stchepko, who holds that the world has gone mad. The cause is the seduction of good men by wealth. Russia as the poorest country will cure that. When Russia wins here will be universal poverty and Christlikeness.

"Perversion" spread first among peas Christlikeness.

"Perversion" spread first among peasants on the Upper Volga; but the chief prophet of the cult is a Malo-Russian from Podolia. Stchepko believes that the Germans are the richest people in the world, and, therefore, the worst; and he adds that, when the Czar's army gets into Germany, the Germans will be edeemed by poverty.

Material Betterment. Against this mystical mujik tendency there is a contrary tendency. This is in the direction of material betterment. The sharper peasants realize that Russia, compared with her enemies, is badly hampered by poverty, lack of roads, and railroads, lack of machinery, organization, thinness of population. They have had object lessons of what trouble is caused to an army by bad roads and few railroads. The result is "civilian volunteering." one of the most hopeful of new Russian initiatives.

f new Russian initiatives.

Peasants, rejected as soldiers, got the advice to do something else to help their ountry. There is a road-making and tree-planting movement. The tree planting is particularly necessary. As a result of deforestation the Volga-side and other provinces are dessicating into deserts. Now peasant communes, with the cry, "Help the Fatherland," are at work; and on the early summer evenings may be seen gangs of volunteers planting trees and building primitive bridges over the ravines which every where intersect the steppes. These mujiks best of all deserve the favorite

BUENA VISTA, PA., RIVAL OF NEWPORT SUMMER COLONY ..

South American Diplomats Rent Homes in Blue Ridge Mountain Community.

By Leased Wire From the Washing ton Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, July 10 .- Buena Vista Pa., known to society as the Gretna Green of the diplomatic corps from the number of remances between American girls and Latin-American diplomats which there have had their beginnings, will this summer share with New-port and the North Shore the distinction of harboring a colony of foreign digni

The Ambassador of Argentina and Mme. Naon have leased for the season Mrs. Ferdinand Latrobe's cottage and expect to take possession within th next fortnight.

The embassy will not be formally closed for the summer, as everything is to be kept in readiness for the Ambas-sador should business detain him in Washington. It is one of the hand-somest homes of the foreign embassies and has been the scene of much hos-pitality during the winter. Indeed, the reception given by the Ambassador and Mme. Naon on the afternoon of May 25, in celebration of the 105th anniversary of the independence of Argentina, was one of the most brilliant functions ever given in the capital, occurring at a time when the Pan-American financial congress was in session so that some of the most distinguished men and women of the two Americas were among the

Swiss Minister There, Too. The Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Ritter have also taken a cottage at Buena Vista for the summer, where they will go about the middle of June. The legation at Washington will be kept open all summer in accordance with their usual custom. The pretty cottage which they have selected is perched on a ledge in the heart of the Biue Ridge mountains, with the Cumberland Valley stretched at Nearby, at a rambling collection of charming cottages and country estates which is designated as Monterey, but which with Blue Ridge Summit and Buena Vista really forms an almost continuous community, the Norwegian Minister and Mme. Bryn, with their children, have established a summer home. The Minister, however, will shortly re-turn to Washington where he and the legation staff will remain all summer, making occasional week-end trips to the mountains to break the monotony.

A feature of Monterey is the attractive little Country Club, the meeting place for the interesting people from Washington and Baltimore who frequent the mountain resort, where golf, tennis and bridge are the order of the day.

View of Four States. The Japanese Ambassador and Viscountess Chinda have become closely identified with Monterey, where they have spent several summers at a lovely little house on the hillside boasting a splendid view of Quirauk, the lookout tower at the top of the mountain from which a view of four states—Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia-may be had.

Although no definite announcement their intentions have yet been made by The embassy, indications are to the effect that the Ambassador and the Viscountess Chinda will again select Mon-

Now that the envoys of the warring nations have made choice of their sum mer homes, the Russians at Newport the Germans at Cedarhurst, L. I.; the Ambassador of Austro-Hungary at Lenox and the British, French and Italians scattered about the North Shore, and the danger of unpleasant encounters has been minimized, interest centers in the plans of the Latin-American diplomats and the two Asiatic countries, China and Slam, which, in addition to Japan, have representatives in this country.

The Siamese Ambassador and Lady Prabha Karavongse, accompanied by the secretary of the legation and Mrs. Edward Loftus and the other members of the staff, will take possession of their cottage at Bass Rock, Mass., on June 10. A trip to the Pacific Coast, with a visit to the two California expositions. had been planned for the summer, but it has been given up and they go instead to the pretty little Massachusetts town, with which they have in recent years been strongly identified. The Minister and Lady Prabha have an attractive daughter, a girl of 16, who is a pupil in a Washington school, and several younger children. The Chinese Minister and Mme. Shah have decided to remain in Washington most of the summer. Mme. Shah and her daughter bear the distinction of becorps who cling to their native dressand this in spite of the fact that they speak English fluently and that Miss Shah is a graduate of an American col-

ETTERS OF SOLDIERS TO FRIENDS IN AMERICA TELL OF EUROPE'S GREAT WAR

FEREWITH is presented a second installment of personal letters from soldiers in Europe's great war to friends in America, who have sent these messages from the firing line to the Post-Dispatch for publication. The letters, of course, were written without thought of publication and reflect the spirit of the armies with which the writers

The Post-Dispatch asks that letters of general interest concerning the war be sent to this paper for publication. For the letters accepted for publication, regular rates will be paid. Letters written in other language than English should be translated but the original should accompany the translation. The original will be returned.

has drawn upon itself the loathing and ate of the rest of the world. I am happy to say that the "genuine Americans" are in heart with us and our admirable allies; and if there yet be -God forbid-Americans who sympathize with the Germans, the Lusitania assassination should open their eyes. The German people, at the instigation of the Prussians, have put themselves in the ranks of the vandals, and their imperial chief comedian would have made It must be that the Germans are very thick-headed not to have yet perceived that they are the dupes and the instruments in the hands of Prussian militarism which threatens to subjugate the entire world; for let us have no illusions, France vanquished, it is then the turn of Russia and England; then the turn of America will follow.

It has been really a miracle that we could have gained the battle of the Marne, for we had to oppose 52 German army corps with but 20 or 21 army corps, and if we could have had sufficient artillery and cavalry to pursue them in their retreat, long ago this war would have been terminated.

But today, with the chiefs, who know how to spare the lives of their men, we than they, and it was a terrible thing to see the rawages the machine guns made in their ranks with their habit of attacking en masse. But what would you have? the Germans are like that, and if they don't feel the elbows of their neighbors, they feel themselves lost.

The victory of May 9 is but the preude to other and greater victories; but from here to there how many human lives must be snuffed out, and perhaps I. who write these lines, shall not be more of this world. But at least I shall have the satisfaction of having done my duty and of dying on the field of honor. How admirable are all these soldiers on the field of battle—in a month they have given battle more than the armies of Napoleon, Lee or Grant, in several years. With kind regards to your famfly, etc., I am, JOS. D'HELIGON. "German-Americans Needed." (Letter of Prof. Hermann Determann. in charge of one of Germany's hospitals South Baden, to his brother Adolf of New York City.) St. Blaisen, Baden, Germany, May 5, 1915.—Dear Adolf: Your letters were the many Germans in America can't return. We have use for them, as the boundaries to defend are long and the enemy's troops are double ours in number. It is to be honed trely will never the control of ber. It is to be hoped Italy will not enter the war against us. The struggle would be longer and harder for us, but we will not lose courage. Everything seems favorable now, particularly in Galicia, and even in Flanders we are making progress.

Most of our wounded come from near Hartmann's Weilerkopf. From Dec. 15 to May 1 we received 6300, quite a lot. Only 120 of the whole number died. The rest have returned to the front, except some who are no longer serviceable

Germany is not going to be conquered. We can afford to wait and be patient.

"Only Russians Here Prisoners." (Letters from Kurt Geschwinde to Miss street, St. Louis.)

Now I will try to tell you about the European war. Our country has been in a bad position, on account of having foes all around. At the beginning of the war the Russians entered our country on the eastern frontier. These General, a chief to the United Military power, and were mostly all captured. Now, there are no Russians in Germany excepting those who are prison-ers. This General is hailed as a sec-ond "Moltke." Moltke, as you know won fame in the war of 1870 between

Germany and France.
In the western part we have had great success. This was against France and Belgium. The Frenchman is a good soldier, and we have no cause to think that we will shortly celebrate a victory which will finish the war. Many of the Germans died in this campaign. You surely have read a great deal of news concerning the German victory in Belgium. After a month passed we were in possession of the entire kingdom of

CHICAGO STRIKE SETTLED; BUILDING BOOM PREDICTED

Structures to Cost I16,000,000 Awaite Erection While 16,000 Carpenters

Were Idle. CHICAGO, July 10 .- The settlement of the strike of 16,000 carpenters, carrying with it the reopening of building materia; plants employing 150,000 persons, which was brought about by a compromise today, is expected to result in a building boon

Labor leaders, bankers and business men generally predicted that all building records of the city would be broken. In the last 60 days building permits for structures to cost $16,000,000 have been taken out, but work could not be started because of the strike.

An agreement reached at 2 a. m. to day provides that the men shall get 70 cents an hour and sign a "uniform agreement" preventing strikes and lockouts. The agreemer for three years from May 31, provides for the closed shop and says there shall be no restrictions on the importation of building materials.

POST DISPATCH

ROWTH Is a Law of Nature

A newspaper must go forward or backward. The POST-DISPATCH is constantly expanding! Outgrowing one home after another.

Even its great sextuple and octuple presses shout continually "Give us Room," "Give us Room!"

The big, new up-to-date Home for the POST-DISPATCH at the northeast corner of 12th and Olive streets is now being designed, which will embody, when completed, every feature of the most modern newspaper plants of the world, together with many new and exclusive features for the special needs of St. Louis' "One Big

The following tables tell of a few of the achievements of the POST-DISPATCH in circulation and advertising for the

Star	1,408.500	"

During this brief period of 6 months the POST-DISPATCH carried 270,180 lines more of legitimate paid advertising than its two nearest competitors, the Globe and Republic, combined. In the same period the POST-DISPATCH exceeded 3 out of all four of its competitors, Republic, Times and Star, added together by 358,080 agate lines.

Automobile Advertising

The Post-Dispatch completely outclassed its nearest competitor in automobile advertising by 19,215 lines and beat 3 out of all 4 of the other papers, Republic, Times and Star COMBINED, by 44,001 lines.

The automobile manufacturers and dealers bought space in each of the five St. Louis daily newspapers, during the past 6 months as follows:

POST-DISPATCH 251,927	AGATE
Globe-Democrat
Republic	66
Times 60,300	44
Star 34,539

If, as all experts agree, automobile advertising is the standard by which "quality" circulation is gauged—the Post-Dispatch is pre-eminent in Quality as well as Quantity.

The legitimate "Wants" of a newspaper, is the best evidence of its popularity and pulling power. In this important respect the Post-Dispatch always exceeds 2 or 3 and often all 4 of the other St. Louis papers combined.

The Post-Dispatch is the greatest classified want medium in the United States. Here are the totals of "want ads" for the 5 St. Louis daily papers for the first six months of 1915:

These figures show that the Post-Dispatch alone, was only 3445 ads behind all four of its competitors added together. A record unequaled by any other metropolitan newspaper in the entire country.

The President this afternoon called the White House on the telephone and instructed Secretary Tumulty to request Secretary Lansing t start for Cornish as soon as the official text of the note is in his hands.

It is believed the note will reach the State Department tonight or early omorrow morning so that it can be deciphered in ample time for Secretar Lansing to start for Cornish tomorrow night.

The note was a distinct disappointment to officials at the State Departnent, but none of them appear to believe that it will bring a break in the elations between this country and Germany.

Since the negotiations began months ago it was pointed out, the United States virtually has been using high seas in accordance with its view on international law and there have been no belligerent ships carrying Americans torpedoed without warning Since German submarine commander have made their practice square with international law to that extent, officlair do not believe the refusal of the German Government itself to give ex plicit assurances will be followed by any overt acts involving further loss

The controlling factor in the situation, according to opinions in official quarters, in the attitude the United States should take as a result of the Lusitania tragedy itself. It is that which is gi ing officials most concern—the shaping of a course that will maintain the dig nity of the United States and give promise of obtaining some satisfactory set tlement of the dispute.

There was no denial in any quarter that the general situation was fraught with grave possibilities.

On the law of the case, the American absolutely impregnable, because it was founded on the well recognized prin ciples by which nations long have been guided. A deadlock has been reached, it was declared, on the legal interpretations respectively held by Germany and the United States on submarine warfare as affecting the rights of neutrals. TWO AMERICAN NOTES.

From First American Note, Dispatched May 13.) THE objection to their present method of attack against the trade of their enemies lies in the practical impossibility of employing submarines in the destruction of commerce without disregarding those rules of fairness, reason, justice, and humanity, which all modern opinion regards as imperative. It is practically impossible for the officers of a submarine to visit a merchantman at sea and examine her papers and cargo. It is practically impossible for them to make a prize of her, and, if they cannot put a prize crew on board of her, they cannot sink her without leaving her crew and all on board of her to the mercy of the sea in her small boats. * * . Manifestly submarines cannot be used against merchantmen, as the last few weeks have shown, without an inevitable violation of many sacred principles of justice and humanity.

American citizens act within their indisputable rights in taking their ships and in traveling wherever their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas, and exercise those rights in what should be the well-justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in clear violation of universally acknowledged international obligation and certainly in the confidence that their own Government will sustain them in the exercise of their

It (U. S.) takes it for granted that, at least within the practical possibilities of every such case, the commanders even of submarines were expected to do nothing that would involve the lives of noncombatants or the safety of neutral ships, even at the cost of failing of their object of capture or destruction. It confidently expects therefore that the Imperial German Government will disavow the acts of which the Government of the United States complains, that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure, and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence, of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare.

(From Second American Note, June 11.) HATVEVER may be the contentions of the Imperial German Government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, it need only be said that in the view of this Government these contentions are irrelevant to the question used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel.

Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to stop when ordered to do so for the purpose of visit could have afforded the commander of the submarine any justification for so much as putting the lives of those on board the ship in jeopardy.

The Government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate as in any degree an abandonment of the rights either of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationalty. It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights.

The Government of the United States therefore reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will adopt the measures necesgary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American

GERMANY'S REPLIES.

(From First German Reply, May 30.)

INALLY, the Imperial Government must point out particularly that the Lusitania on its last trip, as on earlier occasions, carried Canadian troops and war material, including no less than 5,400 cases of ammunition intended for the destruction of the German soldiers who are fulfilling their duty with self-sacrifice and devotion in the fatherland's

The German Government believes that it was acting in justified self-defense in seeking, with all the means of warfare at its disposition, to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition intended for the enemy.

The British shipping company must have been aware of the danger to which the passengers aboard the Lusitania were exposed under these conditions. company in embarking them, notwithstanding this, attempted deliberately to use the lives of American citizens as protection for the ammunition aboard and acted against the clear provisions of the

The Imperial Government, while withholding its final decision on the demands advanced in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania until receipt of an answer from the American Government, feels impelled, in conclusion, to recall here and now, that it took cognizance with satisfaction of the mediatory proposals submitted by the United State's Government to Berlin and London, as a basis for a modus vivendi for conducting the maritime warfare between Germany and Great Britain. The Imperial Government, by its readiness to enter upon discussion of these proposals, then demonstrated its good intentions in ample fashion. The realization of these proposals was defeated, as is well known, by the declinatory attitude of the Eritish

the most direct contradictions of international law, all distinctions between merchantmen and war vessels have been obliterated by the order to British merchantmen to arm themselves and to ram submarines and the promise of rewards therefor, and neutrals who use merchantmen as travelthereby have been exposed in an increasing degree to all the dangers of war. If the commander of the German submarine which destroyed the Lusitania had caused the crew and passengers to take to the boats before firing a torpedo this would have meant the sure destruction of his own vessel. After the experiences in sinking much smaller and less seaworthy vessels, it was to be expected that a mighty ship like the Lusitania would remain above water long enough even after the tor pedoing to permit passengers to enter the ship's

Circumstances of a very peculiar kind, especially the absence on board of large quantities of highly explosive materials, defeated this expectation. addition, it may be pointed out that if the Lusitania had been spared thousands of cases of munitions would have been sent to Germany's enemies, and thereby thousands of German mothers and children rotbed of breadwinners.

In order to exclude any unforseen dangers to American passenger steamers, made possible in view of the conduct of maritime war by Germany's adversaries, German submarines will be instructed to permit the free and safe passage of such passenger steamers when made recognizable by special markings and notified a reasonable time in advance The Imperial Government, however, confidently hopes that the American Government will assume to guarantee that these vessels have no contraband on board, details of arrangements for the unhampered passage of these vessels to be agreed upon by the naval authorities of both sides. The Imperial Government believes it can assure that in this manner adequate facilities for travel across the Atlantic Ocean can be afforded American citzens. There would therefore appear to be no empelling necessity for American citizens to travel to Europe in time of war on ships carrying an enemy flag. In particular, the Imperial Government an enemy ship through the mere fact of their pres-

Germany merely followed England's example when she declared part of the high sea an area of war. D. LEROY DRESSER KILLS HIMSELF IN NEW YORK CLUB

Financial Difficulties Believed to Have Been Cause of His Act.

FRIEND GOT WARNING

Lawyer Who Received Letter Hurried to Fraternity House, but Arrived Too Late.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 10.—Daniel Lero Dresser, 50 years old, former president of the Trust Company of the Republic and brother of Mrs. George W. Van-derbilt and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown of Newport, shot and killed himself about 3 o'clock this afternoon in the library of St. Anthony's Hall, the Delta Phi Fraternity house of Columbia University, at 434 Riverside drive. He was found stretched on the floo with a bullet in his right temple, and a B-caliber revolver near his hand, by his friend and attorney, C. W. Gould. The lawyer had arrived in great haste He had received at 5:30 o'clock a lette

Just what this letter contained Gould refused to divulge. He did say, how-ever, that Dresser had said in it he was suffering under a nervous strain which he could no longer bear. Gould was asked if in the letter the financie had declared he meant to kill himself "Not exactly that—not just in such

There was a report that last April Dresser had been made the defendant in a suit for $200,000, based on notes he alleged to have given to Madawaya & Co., a Japanese concern, but Gould said he was certain this litigation had nothing to do with Dresser's act.

When the attorney received the spe-cial delivery letter at his home it had evidently been posted about 9 o'clock in morning-he hurried to the Delta Psi House. He went to Dresser's room and not finding him there, searched through the house and nearly stumbled over the body in the unlighted library.

He Tangoes Too Much, Declares St. Louis Democrat of Executive in Reply.

SURPRISE IS COMING

Former Candidate Predicts Major Will Be Shocked if He Runs Again.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., July 10.-Gov. Major, who has been assailed by Dr. John H. Simon of St. Louis for his failure to recognize "the boys" in the distribution of patronage in that city, today expressed indifference to Dr. Simon and his say-

"I don't care what Dr. Simon says," he remarked. "He is of no importance in Missouri politics. His opinion on the state political situation is of no value, and when he says the state is going Republican next year, he proves my assertion." He added that his St. Louis appointments had satisfied himself and the people.

Dr. Simon who ran for Mayor of St. Louis two years ago, said, on learning of Gov. Major's remarks about him, that the Governor had been giving too much attention t the tango, and too little to practical politics, of late. He said he did not predict delinitely that Missouri would go Republican next year, but that he said such a thing might happen if the present situation were not remedied in time.

"Gov. Major will discover something if he runs for office next year," the doctor remarked. "But I did not set eut to provoke a controversy with him, but to try and arouse think-ing Democrats to a realization of what may happen."

IOWA TOWN LONG TOOK BURIED GOLD STORY AS A JOKE

Arrest of Four Old Farmers in Connection With Murder 47 Years Ago Made It Serious.

SURPRISE IS PROMISED

Prosecutor Asserts There Will Be Revelations at Hearing in Bedford Tuesday.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post

Dispatch. BEDFORD, Io., July 10 .- With every farmer from this corner of Iowa and from across he border in Missouri in town today discussing murders the James Younger and Dalton gangs, buried treasure and kidnapped women, this place has become the scene of a moving picture of an fold-time dime novel. Four old men, Samuel Scrivner, Bates Huntsman, John and nathaniel Damewood, who have farms about 12 miles out of town, are under arrest, charged with murdering a stockman and his son, 48 years ago, robbing them of $90,000, which was contained in a trunk, and burying the treasure. Some minor features of the case as outlined by W. W. Bulman, the attorney who started the investigation, include an attempt to kidnap a girl who, now 62 years old, appears as a witness to the alleged murders the murder of the man who burie the treasure by a sister of the girl; raids by the James boys in an effort to gain stolen money; the work of a gang of counterfeiters and 36 years of constant digging by the men, nov noney, which effort is said to have been successful 12 years ago.

With the exception of Scrivner, who has about 250 acres of good land, the prisoners have always been supposed to be poor men. Everyone in Caylor County knew that the men Huntsman in particular, were dig ging for years in what was known as the Collins farm and hoped to find buried treasure. This was regarded as a joke by all the citizens here and when the digging ceased 12 years ago the story was almost forgotten. But for the sanction to make the arrests given to Justice of the Peace M. A. Sawyer by C. A. Robbins, Assistant Attorney General, the town would still regard the affair

No Material Evidence of Murder. When warrants for the arrest of the men were applied for by A. H. Landis, a clerk in the office of Attorney Bulman, both the Justice and City Attorney R. T. Investigation into the alleged murders was brought about by Sam Anderson, who, 35 years ago, rented the farm upon which the $90,000 is said to have been she talked. hidden. He asserts that the four men now under arrest tried to get him to abandon the farm and afterward hired him to dig it up in search of money to dig it up in search of money Anderson said to the Post-Dispatch cor-respondent that the men told him they had received a large sum from the sale of a farm in Missouri and had hidden it then pursued by a band of outlaws. Huntsman, he said, was always around when he was digging.

About twelve years ago, Anderson said, he struck a soft spot in earth and dug up a bone that appeared to have come from a man's arm. He asserts Huntsman immediately took charge of the work and recovered a large box others frequently admitted to him that they had found $90,000, but it would be necessary for him to wait for his share.

After waiting 12 years Anderson icld his story to Attorney Bulman.

MISSOURI WOMAN SUES INDIANA MILLIONAIRES FOR $600,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 10.-Frederick G. Eberhardt Jr. and Everett G. Eberhardt, millionaires living in Misha-waka, Ind., are defendants in a suit filed in the Federal Court here by Annie B. Halderman of Versailles, Mo., who asks judgment of $300,000 against each defendant. The money is claimed on five promissory notes executed to the plaintiff by the Morgan County Coal Co., a South Dakota corporation, in which, the suit sets forth, the Eberhardt brothers are stockholders.

Before the execution of the notes for $200,000 the Eberhardt brothers each became the owner of 3750 shares of stock the coal company, the par value of the stock being $100 a share, the suit illeges. More than 90 per cent of the par value of the Eberhardt stock is inpaid, according to the complaint.

The judgment then is asked against these stockholders under a South Da-kota law that provides: "Each stock-holder of a corporation is individually and personaly liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent and per-sonally liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent of the amoun that is unpaid on the stock held by

Bowman vs. Hoerr (winner to play Monnett). Darrough vs. Overall (winner to play Jones).

In the face of practically certain defeat, Roland Hoerr and Drummond Jones of this city beat down an almost unsurmountable barrier of two sets and snatched from the hands of Gene Monnett and Paul Darrough of Enid, Oklahoma, a victory in the final match of the Central States doubles Triple A courts, yesterday afternoon.
The scores of the five-set encounter were: 11—13. 3—6, 6—3, 6—4, 6—2. Sixty games in all were played.
The victory was the fourth consecutive one that the Jones-Hoerr combination has gained in the doubles event. The local players took possession of the trophy last year having won it thrice, and also dedicated the new cup put up for competition only this season with another conquest.
The match of yesterday was probably as thrilling a one as has been contested on local courts in years. Certainly it is the first one to be decided by a fifth set since that one several years ago when Jack Cannon of Kansas City won three sets and a championship after Roland Hoerr had taken the first two sets in a finals match.

Team Play Wins.

The play was no less brilliant than it was closely contested. It was simply a case of the veteran local com ly a case of the veteran local combination, which has worked together for five years, beating down a less acquainted and experienced pair, which has been in action but two geasons. It seems to be a fact that Monnett and Darrough are better fortified with native ability than were their opponents, but they lack that polished team play which Jones and Hoerr have perfected.

The visitors put every effort into the first two sets, which were decided in their favor. At the close of these sets, they seemed unquestionably the masters. However, they put their last ounce of grit and endurance into those two victories. From them on the local pair simply wore down their opponents. Monnett and Darrough, a superbly built pair of youths, lithe, agile and gritty, could not stand the pace of their opponents. All of which leaves the impression that headwork and nerve won the contest.

The rest two gemes. The locals the third game, only to lose the next two geames, when he had the curry making the count the proper was and Hoerr, making the count the count to an division the state of his state Monnett was carrying the burden of his team's play and virtually burned the clay with his light on the first two games. reputation of being a far superior playwas not brought out yesterday. Both played an even game and a splendid one. They made several breaks, but only natural under such strain. Another surprise was that in the play of the local players. "Old Man Jones," who, according to so very many, had gone back, actually won the victory, although ably helped by his partner. Jones bore the brunt of play. From the first point the Oklahomans vollied him and gave him at least there-quarters of their attention during the afternoon.

The play of the two teams was fundamentally different. The visitors depended upon a double-net game, which was the prettiest seen here for a long time. The local players, on the other hand, stood on the back line and smashed at their delight, only to receive the ball bounding back to them. To relieve the monotony, Hoerr often went to the net and smashed the ball over cross-court after his partner had driven Darrough and Monnett to the back line with his tobs. The local victory may be attributed to this.

Plenty of Variety Here.

Plenty of Variety Here.

The play of the four contestants also liffered greatly. Monnett with his deadly overarm volley, Darrough with deadly overarm volley. Darrough with his accurate back-hand, Hoerr with his uncertain offensive tricks, and Jones with his "safety first" play characterized the work of the quartet.

A technical evidence of the closeness of the afternoon's play is that but 19 points separated the totals of the two teams. The winners gained 208, while the losers made 190.

The first set was the feature one.

BOSTON, Mass., July 10.—The Cardinals won the first, 7—1, and lost the second game, 3—1, in today's double-header with the Braves at Fenway Park, played before a crowu of 12,000, which seemed quite as friendly to the visitors as to Stall-

As a grand finish. Walsh came some nine miles toward the infield and grabbed Lapp's pop back of short in the lighth, as a run was shooting toward the infield and grabbed Lapp's pop back of short in the elighth, as a run was shooting toward the infield and grabbed Lapp's pop back of short in the elighth, as a run was shooting toward the inning, it became merely a question of how many runs the visitors would pile up. In the first four innings of that game Huggins' men were retired in order.

Robinson pitched superb baseball for the Cardinals in the first six innings and only 20 men went to bat for Boston. After that, with St. Louis sure of winning, Rabinson eased up a bit. Pitted against Robinson was Long Tom Hughes, who has a habit of weakening toward the finish of every game. He started off today, as usual, like a whirlwind, then went from bad to worse and the final inning found expensive Paul Strand playing the relief role.

Davis at Top Form.

The Cardinals tried hard enough to win the second game, thereby pulling up the two full games upon the Cubs, who were in difficulties at Brooklyn. But young George Davis, no-hit pitcher of the Braves and Harvard strong man, was the stumbling block in the Cardinals' path of progress. Davis has but recently joined the club this season, having just completed his career in Harvard law school, but he was at the top of his form today, having speed, curves and everythins.

Only 21 men faced Davis in the first seven innings. Three of these did get to first, two on hits and one a free pass, but all were either a free pass, but all were either hing to steal. All told in the nine innings only 29 Cardinal batsmen faced Davis, which comes pretty close to being a season's record.

Lee Meadows did the twirling for the visitors. He got away badly, pass-Coatlanded on Page 35.

Clarence Walker's arm played an important part in the Browns' victory, 4—3, over the Mackmen yesterday at Sportsman's Park, although Clarence and his arm didn't get any closer to the box score than the bench. Clarence's arm was punctured in practice by a wild pitch, so his entry was scratched at post time and Dee Walsh.

Catcher Hartley found the offerings of Bunny Hearne just to his taste today, and smashed over four runs and scored three himself. His triple in the fifth inning had a few earmarks of luck about it as Konnethy, Kelly and Lewis got in a mix-up going after his high fly, and the ball fell between them. There were three on and two out at the time, and of course every man legged to for home as soon as the pill started for the clouds. It was so long coming down that Hartley got to third before the ball reached the infield again.

Chance of Knocking Out the Briton in Limited Period Is Virtually Nil.

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1914, by Press Pub. Co.) NEW YORK, July 10.—If Freddy Welsh is ever knocked out in a 10-round no-decision bout, it will be an accident. Freddy showed Saturday night he can take a beating and come back and can way his grip on the title can be loos-ened is by inducing him to fight 20 rounds, with a decision. This no derounds, with a decision. This no decision stuff is simply ple for "No-decision Freddy." He eats it up.

Weish has a cleverness all his own, quite different from the cleverness of the better champions who preceded him. He is as swift as the swiftest, and he can hit as accurately and land as sure. y as any. But he entirely lacks a sting, as was shown when he cracked White flush on the point of the chin several times Saturday night, throwing his body in behind the punch, and not even tilting White's head back an inch.

White Presses Welsh Hard.

Lacking a sting, Welsh has to depend upon something else to make a showing. So he specializes in not being stung him-So he specializes in not being stung himself. Instead of showing the aggression of a champion confident in his fighting powers, he taps swiftly and leaps into a momentary clinch to the his opponents hands until he can leap back out of range again. White hit Welsh so fast and so hard that Freddy found clinching less profitable than usual. Several times the champion, trying to rush in and hug, was knocked from side to side, until he was floundering and gasping at thin air. In the eighth round Welsh was dazed and very weary. But has a lot of stamina for a man who has been in the game as long as Welsh—and au unlimited supply of stick-to-it grit. He's the hardest man in the world to discourage. If he had not been, some of White's body-soaks might have persuaded him to take a few seconds on the floor.

White beat Welsh, of course, outfought him in nearly every round and at times outboxed him cleanly, yet at the finish Welsh was fresher than White, and White was very weary. Of course, he had an excuso for being tired. He had been steadily on the aggressive, had put all he had into his punches and had burned up more energy than the dancing champion.

Dundee Has Good Chance.

I met Scotty Montelth, who has hnny Dundee.
"Johnny," said I, "would have a "Johnny," said I, "would have a better chance to beat Welsh than any of these bither fellows."

"That's what I think," admitted Scotty, reluctantly, Scotty being naturally a very modest man.

"Won't Welsh fight him?"
"Tm working on it," said Scotty.
"Of course, Johnny wants to get him and feels sure he can beat him. But it must be in a 20-round fight with a decision; a championship fight. I will not match Dundee against Welsh in a 10-round bout with no decision, positively. If Welsh ever had a 10-round sample of Johnny's style of fighting he'd never meet Johnny over a longer distance if we waited until Johnny grew long, white whiskers, and I don't think Johnny or any one else can get Freddy in 10 rounds."

This embryo trouble is personified in Robert Simpson, the Missouri University athlete who is seeking the low hurdles title, which Loomis at present holds.

The other cloud—not intentionally facetious, Bo—is Howard Drew, the colored sprinter, who will compete in the 100 yards A. A. U. championship dash this year.

Only 6 Feet Difference.

T HE men will come together at the Parama-Pacific track and field meet the first week in August. Simpson and Loomis will probably hook up next Saturday at Chicago in the tryouts for the A. A. U. team. No doubt both men will be sent West regardless of which wins at Chicago. As matters appear now, there will not be much more than a stride difference between them at the finish, for there is only one-fifth, second separating the best times.

A sprinter takes about seven feet at a stride and a hurdler

Here's the Big Race.

OF course the 200 yards dash will F course the 200 yards dash will monopolize popular interest; but the most spectacular race of the meeting ought to take place in the high hurdles, a prettier event, with more variety to its action, and just as thrilling and heart-breaking.

In this race two men who have tied the world's record are expected to meet—Fred Kelly of California and Simpson of Missouri. Simpson and Kelly have both done 16 seconds twice, over the 3 foot 6 inch timbers. Both hurdlers show splendid form, seldom marring their performances by leaving a trail of upset hurdles.

Low Hurdles Easier. T is impossible to separate these men. Condition and amount of men. Condition and amount of practice may settle the supremacy. This style of race is much more difficult than the low hurdles, used in the 220-yards event. With low obstacles the runner strides over the barrier; in the 120-feature he must leap over it, preserving a definite form in doing so, under penalty of losing his stride, falling prone, or kicking over the timber.

Both Simpson and Kelly represent form to the Nth degree, in this event, which will in itself be worth the price of admission.

A Shrunken Enterprise.

W AR and other alarms, chiefly financial, have atrophied what promised to be one of the greatest athletic events ever held, outside of an Olympic meeting. Panama-Pacific Exposition officials had originally planned to make the 1915 meet international and to expend $100,000 in bringing stars from Europe and elsewhere to participate.

But Europe is athletically hopeless, while the exchequer of the athletics department of the fair has been reported not much better off.

Many plans have been abandoned, one of the most regrettable failures being that which contemplated a 440-yards straightaway track, on which to let James Meredith, the famed Pennsylvania flyer, try to lower the record of Maxey Long, 47 seconds, made over the Guttenburg straightaway 16 years ago.

Meredith is the greatest quarnancial, have atrophied what Authority. Tommy Sullivan announces that he foreign talent could have done but little toward improving the class of the competition.

The exposition officials are finding out just exactly what James E. Sullivan encountered in this city, during the World's Fair of 1904. The Olympic games were held here, then; but the patronage at the world's most wonderful games was shamefully small.

The best single attendance that crowded into the stadium was probably that which attended the marathon finish. Then not over 10,000 persons were present. dall of this city with "Mickey" Sher gaceptance was received last Thursday, while Trendall had already given his consent.

The bout will be at catchweights, with the understanding that neither is to weigh more than 145 pounds. The latter poundage is specified merely as a maximum limitation in order to insure that both boxers will enter the ring in good condition. Sheridan boxes at about 140 to 142 for a bout like this and that is about the weight at which Trendall will come in.

This should prove to be one of the very best bouts between welterweights seen here in a long while. Sheridan is good and, win or lose, never falls to satisfy. He is a man of exemplary habits, and bears the reputation of always trying his best.

Trendall has continued light training since his recent bout with Leo Kelly and it will not require much hard work to put him in first-class condition. He will have to be at his best when he meets Sheridan, because the latter is a strong, ferless and aggressive boxer who can give and take a let of punishment.

when he meets Sheridan, because the latter is a strong, ferless and aggressive boxer who can give and take a lot of punishment.

Burke May Meet Kelly.

A difference of two pounds is all that prevents a match between Leo Kelley and Tom Burke, according to Tommy Sullivan, who has been trying to arrange a bout between the two.

That two pounds, however, appears to be an insurmountable barrier. Kelly states that he is willing to let Burke come in as high as 154 pounds, while the latter holds out for 156. Kelly appears to be making the greater concession, as he would be heavy enough at 148 pounds and is willing to give Burke an advantage of some six or seven pounds.

On the other hand, Burke appears to the correspondent of the corresponden on anyantage of some six or seven pounds.

On the other hand, Burke appears to think he would not be strong at any-thing less than 156, and to enter the ring weak at 154 would hurt his chances. Fowler to Face Nelson.

Nor all his effort to even it up can help the situation much.

One or two miscalled balls might put a runner on base. The pitcher's entire policy is then immediately altered and his task made considerably harder. He cannot pitch to the batter with a runner on the bases as freely as if he had retired the preceding man. A steal and a Texas Leaguer and the game might be won then and there. Tommy Sullivan experienced some trouble during the past week securing a suitable opponent for Monk Fowler of Memphis, Tenn., who is to box before the Future City Athletic Club on next Tuesday night. It was announced a week ago that Charlie Arenson of Kansas City would be brought down, but investigation disclosed the fact that Arenson has grown too heavy for the featherweight class, and about the best he could do in the matter of weight was to make 130 pounds. This is too much for Fowler, who boxes at 124.

Then Jimmy Hurst, who manages Arenson, wanted to substitute a boxer by the name of Butler, but not "Red" Butler, who is also from Kansas City and who will be remembered as having boxed Leo Kelly here before the Moose Citb. Sullivan refused to accept the substitute, because he knew rothing of Butler's ability and wanted a boy he knew to be capable of giving Fowler a battle.
"Battling" Kelly of Atlanta, Ga., who has a good record in the South, was then communicated with. In addition, a wire was sent Jim Buckley, manager of "Gunbaet" Smith in New York Stri suitable opponent for Monk Fowler

Buckley answered in the affirmative, and about the same time word was received from Kelly of Atlanta that he would come. Sullivan selected Nelson because he is better known and ranks as one of the clever, hard-hitting featherweights of the East. He should be able to give Fowler a tight run.

Fowler a Clever Boxer. Fowler, whose right name is Monk Holmgren and who is a French-Canadian, has not been seen here since he boxed "Dutch" Brandt before the Fudian, has not been seen here since he boxed "Dutch" Brandt before the Future City A. C. on Jan. 12 of this year. He had boxed Brandt three weeks prior before the same club. He lost the decision both times to the clever Brandt, but the bouts were good ones.

On Dec. 1, 1914, Fowler boxed "Kid" Sullivan of Brooklyn, N. Y., and won the decision. The bout was fast and cleverly boxed, but Sullivan ruined his chances of winning by holding in the clinches and hitting while doing so. Sullivan was really the better boxer at long range, but suffered by comparison at in-fighting.

One of the most exciting bouts Fowler has engaged in here was against Benny McGovern between the collection of the collection of the most exciting bouts fowler has engaged in here was against Benny McGovern between the collection of the collection of the most exciting bouts Fowler has regarded in a draw. This was McGovern's last bout prior to his retirement from the ring pending an operation for appendicitis.

In his bout with Fowler, McGovern's cleveness was put to test. In the early rounds he succeeded in outpointing Fowler at long range, and then the Memphis boy reversed his style and started some infighting that placed McGovern at a disadvantage and forced him to do a lot of clinching. Fowler was lightning fast that night, and very aggressive.

The Cardinal manager proceeded to celebrate his return to his old position by striking out the first three times up, and he fanned again in the second game, finally giving way to Roche as a futile pinch-hitter. Bescher and Miller were moved up a pag apiece in the order with Butler batting fourth. The Cardinals put up a pair of brilliant fielding games. Huggins, himself at second, was all over the lot, getting one stop back of second that was a wonder. Butler at shortstop redeemed himself for his costly error yesterday, but the star work of the day was done by Wilson in center field, whose grand running catch of Cather's fly in the first cut off a three-bagger, if not a home run.

A pleasing surprise awaited Manager Huggins upon his arrival at the grounds in finding that Catcher Snyder had not been suspended as he feared would be the case. Snyder caught both games and had evidently had a little curtain talk from his boss, for he didn't open his head or protest against a decision. Big Schmidt of the Braves, however, did offend from his coaching position off first and was dispatched to the club

EXPECT 120 MILES AN HOUR

Officials of the Sheepshead Bay Speedway Corporation who went to Chicago to see the running of the 500-mile motor derby, brought back enthusiastic reports of the wonders of the speed realizations and possibilities of wood surfaced automobile race courses. They say that the fact that Rosta, the winner, averaged nearly eight miles an hour faster han De Palma's world's record at ndianapolis, the exact figures being 97.6 as against 89.84, meant much; but that all 10 of the prize money winners should have also broken the vorld's record by averaging over 90 miles an hour, demonstrated the vast speed superiority of a board surface beyond a scintilla of doubt.

In the opinion of these New York racing experts there is every reason to believe that in the elimination trials for the opening races at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway on Oct. 2, a rate of 120 miles an hour will be attained and that a majority of the 62 cars that win the right to compete in the big race itself will show speeds of over a hundred miles an hour and will have to be capable of this speed to be included among he prive money winners.

RED RUBBER NONHEATING BRILLIANT RACING

In a letter to Gorman Bros., 4045 Olive street, their local representatives the makers of the Empire Tire argue as one of the greatest advanages of their output that being made of red rubber it is a poor conductor of heat. No free sulphur is used in the Empire process for the curing of red rubber for tires, in fact, for any of the articles in which red rubber is used. Therefore, the red rubber tire lacks the chemical elements that generate friction. Even under the most terrific speed and heat, Empire red rubber than the time of DePalma's winning Mercedes at Indianapolis. res scarcely get warm.

This was demonstrated in one of the 500-mile races held at Indian-apolis when the temperature was around the one hundred mark. Used on machines traveling at the rate of 100 miles per hour on frequent stretches, peerless red tubes, the kind used in Empire red tires, barely got warm. Drivers, mechanicians and pit men reported that these tubes when taken off the wheel could be handled without any inconvenienc whereas some of the other tires ac tually melted from the all-cosuming heat. No "Skimping" Anywhere in the Chandler Light Six, $1295

HANDLER reputation doesn't rest on the fact that this was , the first light-weight six selling for less than $2000. It doesn't rest on the fact that the Chandler pioneered the t-six field when all the rest of the industry was insisting that sixes had to be high-priced and heavy. Chandler reputation rests primarily on the marvelous Chandler motor, Chandler comfort and economy and the fact that the Chandler has never been "skimped" either in quality of materials or character of equipment. Each part of the Chandler is as good as every other part, and the character of the whole car is reflected in its equipment. Now study this equipment. Note it carefully, item by item. Realize that each feature is first choice of its kind. Any two or three of the following equipment features found on the Chandler would make a "talking point" for the average car.

All of them are on the Chandler:

Gray & Davis Electric Starting Motor. Gray & Davis Electric Generator.

Rayfield Double-jet Carburetor.

Three silent chains, enclosed and running in bath of oil, for driving motor shafts.

Better Roads and European War Contribute to Induce Americans to "See America."

The value of centralizing touring in formation and automobile routes has ecently been well demonstrated in the many new requests that have come to the touring bureau of the American headquarters, Washington, D. C., and New York City.

Many of the largest business institu-tions now have several of their district traveling men covering the different states in automobiles and it has secome a frequent situation that either the salesmen call at the office for road maps and routings or that the sales managers of these business houses write for this same sort of information. By virtue of its large membership, scattered throughout the United States, and the affiliation of all the more promnent clubs, new road informatio being constantly received and in these days of vast road improvements in most of the states, the importance of this "up to the minute" information cannot be overestimated as to its value to automobilists who are contemplating

From carefully kept records of the touring bureau of the American Autonobile Association there is shown, thus far this year, the long distance automo-tile tours being made have increased nearly 600 per cent.

Some of this is due to foreign touring being cut off, but careful analysis constrated that its greatest increase comes from a very positive awakening to the greater magnificence of scenery to be found in America, plus the enormous increase of attention being given to road conditions. This atten-tion is not only on the part of the local authorities, but also on the part, especially in the great Middle West, of road associations that take pride in voluntarily maintaining good touring conditions over many direct lines of travel.

ANOTHER BUICK MODEL Another of the new 1916 Buick Six Cylinder models has reached St. Louis, and is now being inspected at the salesrooms of the Vesper-Buick Auto Co., 3205 Locust street. It is the D6-44 Roadster, the companion of the 45-horse six-cylinder model touring car that was received at the opening of the season.

This car also carries the regular 45-horse motor, and is built on the same chassic as the touring car, and sells at $950 f. o. b. cars Flint. The entire car is practically new style, having the new stream line body, new type cowl and an especially attractive instrument board with a large carry-ing space behind the seats under a deck that is attractively finished and is capacious enough for carrying two tires, as well as additional luggage. Has full floating rear axle, with double ball-bearings throughout 32x4"tires, with Non-skid regular on the rear wheels. The wheel base is 115", and the spring equipment is the regular canti-lever type, which the Buick company now uses exclusively on all of their models. The metor is the regular Buick valve-in-the-head type, with especially fur-nished equipment for intakes, water manifold, etc. The regular Delco starting and lighting system is continued, having been somewhat immodels. A regular ammeter is part of the dash equipment, being added this year. The car is handsomely painted a delft blue, with bright red wheels, and makes an especially handsome appearance.

TO BOOST MISSOURI ROADS A good roads convention is to be held at Nevada, Mo., Tuesday, July 13. The object of the convention is the improvement of the Ozark Trail, marked between Joplin and Kansas City with Nevada as the central point, also of the northeast trail from Joplin to Jefferson City and St. Louis. VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTORS.

In commenting on the problems that face motor car builders, Hugh Chal-mers declared that the most difficult is making the decision on what kind

"The importance of this decision is apparent when one considers the con-stant shiftings that are constantly going on in the automobile business, due to rapid engineering develop-ment, severity of competition and the caprices of public demand. Particu-larly is this true of the 'manufac-tured' car as distinguished from the 'assembled' car, because the decision must be rendered so much earlier.

"The engineers must be given time to design their model. Experimenta cars must be built and tasted thorhly. Necessary tools must be made the factory, the purchasing department must be given time to get deliveries on raw material. This alone of the takes three or four months in advance of production, all plans must be laid.

The started work on the Chalmers takes at least three months, so even Six-40' two years ago. Our engineers overhead camshaft. They saw this this design. The soundness of their

Now $1550

Big Seven-Passenger Touring Car

T last you can get one of the biggest motor cars on the market at the price you have been considering—one of the most luxurious motor cars made by one of the great leaders of the higher-priced motor-car field. At last you can get a car at a reduced price that hasn't one bit of value taken

At last you can get at the price of cheap cars, a Chalmers car-a car that 10,000 owners have run for two years at the lowest record for real economy of upkeep ever known.

Cut from $1925

This car was placed on the market two years ago at $1925. Thousands were sold at that price. Then the car was reduced to $1725 and we sold thousands more at this figure.

Most of these cars went to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, where the list of Chalmers Six-48 owners reads like the Blue Book.

They were not bought merely by those who felt that $1725 was all they could afford to pay for an automobile, but by people who could afford any car.

Over a thousand Six-48's are operating in the

New York City district alone, yet one man at the Chalmers New York branch attends to all repairs or adjustments that have ever been necessary

No Changes But Improvements The care operating in this district broke all records for upkeep-freedom from repair cost considered.

There can be no improvement made in a motor which does such work as this. There can be no structural improvement made in carburetion which makes such a record in gas economy, or on a chassis with such proper distribution of weight-light where it can be, strong where it should be.

Not one of these quality advantages has been skimped in the 1916 model of this car, but numerous refinements have been made.

The car is built in our own shops. It is not a motor picked up here, a transmission there, and other parts from somewhere else.

How We Are Able To Cut This fact and quantity production have enabled us to produce this car at the 1916 price. We are building 20,000 cars this season. That is nearly four times as many as ever before. We are putting up new buildings; we are installing new labor-saving and cost-reducing machinery. With bigger organization, increased capital and new plans, we have cut down administrative expense in its ratio to each car made.

After several years work we are now equipped to make quality cars at quantity prices.

This car gets all the advantages of this general

In addition we had no new tools to make on this model, no new tool fixtures to make, no new machine tools—so we are able to give the present buyers the benefit of these special savings also.

Not a Made-Over Car

Thus you see that it is not a made-over car to meet a lower price; it is the same high-grade quality car that originally sold at $1925.

Think of it!—this car at $1550—$375 cheapes than its first selling price—and then people wondered how we could make it at less than $2000.

Why, a great motor manufacturer once said to us: "It is the finest motor in material and workman. ship we have ever seen (the one in this car at $1550). We are frank to say that we have never turned out a better motor, even for higher-priced cars. No company that we know is turning out a motor with such high-class workmanship as you put on this

Look Beneath the Surface Statements like this should make the prospective motor-car purchaser look beneath the surface of claims of all motor-car manufacturers nowadays The prospective purchaser can't tell by loo at a finished car what is in the chassis. If he is a man of mechanical knowledge he can tell something by close examination of the chassis.

But even then he can't find such difference as this motor manufacturer found in our motor. But those who see Chalmers Cars in the making see these differences. That's why we proudly call attention to the fact that we have never lost a single sale to a prospec-tive purchaser who made a trip through the Chalmers factory. Talk to Owners of This Car Many of your neighbors in St. Louis and vicinity are running this car now-ask any of them about it.

It is the car of Quality—Plus. It is the car of Quality, because the Chalmers Motor Company has never succumbed to the temptation to make cheap cars. When we cannot build quality cars we will go out of business.

It is the car of Quality—Plus, because, with new plans for quadrupled production, new organization and the biggest business in our history, we can-make Quality Cars at prices which make this Six-48 absolutely the best "buy" in she field of cars priced from $1200 to $2000 today.

We are not given to over-statements. Hence we ask the privilege of proving this rather strong claim. May we show you this car, to-day?

OF $25,000,000 It is the claim of L. K. Rittenhouse t. Louis manager for the B. F. Good rich Co., that the inaguration by his company of the fair list movement Jan 31, is raving for the automobile people of the United States $25,000,000 a month. This statement is based on the fact that there are 1,923,951 automobiles now run ning in the United States. Of these 1, 783,951 are pleasure cars. More than 90 per cent use pneumatic tires at the rate of four per year. If a large part of these are kept out of service by the high cost of maintenance direct losses fall on manufacturers, dealers, garage wners, gasoline and oil dealers and on tire manufacturers and dealers. In othwords the lower prices in tires op erate to keep cars running.

BUILDING-REPAIRING

You can now buy a PAIGE Fairfield "Six-46" for $1295

GREATER CAR—a finer car—a more luxurious car-and a reduction of one hundred dollars in price.

Here-in a nutshell-is the most important automobile announcement of this season.

You all know this car.

You know of its instantaneous success at the automobile shows last January.

You know that everywhere it has been welcomed and praised as the year's greatest single achievement in the motor car industry.

You know that in six short months it has set the standard by which all light Sixes must be judged

You know that it has been conceded to be the most beautiful, the most distinctive and the most widely copied car produced by any manufacturer

And, now, the price has not only been reduced to the amazing figure of $1295. But-

We offer you MORE distinction—MORE luxury— MORE beauty than you were able to purchase at the higher price. Such is the latest and greatest achievement of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car. Company

Such is the announcement which thousands of motorists have been eagerly waiting to hear

Now-indeed-comes your opportunity to satisfy that longstanding desire and own the finest of all light sixes-a Paige "Fairfield Six-46."

New Features in the "Fairfield Six-46"

When we say that the new "Fairfield" is a greater and finer Six we mean precisely what the words imply The only changes which have been made in this car are distinct and obvious improvements.

You will find for instance, that the top is now made of genuine Pantasote instead of Mohair

Inside the car, the upholstery has been changed to the finest French Glaze hand-buffed leather No amount of money can buy a finer quality of leather, hair or springs for upholstering.

Scrupulous care has been given to the finish of the "Six-46," and you will now find a "paint job" which cannot be bettered in America. It requires twenty-four days to finish the long graceful body in its Paige Richelieu blue and the running gear has been effectively set off with a warm red.

At every point you will find better workmanshipfiner material-handsomer appointments.

We have deliberately set out to make the "Fairfield" the last word in six cylinder elegance and luxury. We have spared neither pains nor money to accomplish our purpose.

When you actually see the wonderful improvements which have been made, you will find it difficult to reconcile so much real value with the greatly decreased price.

And, now, let us say a word about "price."

This has been a strenuous season in the motor car field-an especially strenuous season in the light six division.

Prices have been slashed right and left. Bold, intemperate "claims" have been made and it has, perhaps, been difficult for the public to separate the wheat from the chaff.

But-no matter what the "claims" may be-the public is concerned first and last with Quality—basic quality—fundamental quality.

So, this is the year of all years when you must investigate and analyze before you finally decide to make your invest ment in an automobile.

Only too often a cut in price means a proportionate cut in quality A car, you must remember, can be "refined" to the point where all of the goodness is taken out of it.

Therefore, make it a point first of all to critically investigate the car which you propose to buy. Pay attention to the little details quite as well as the big ones. Actually satisfy yourself that price reduction has not meant quality reduction.

It is on this basis that we want you to consider the Paige.

In plain terms, ask the Paige Dealer to prove to you that the "Six-46" is all that it ever was—and a great deal more.

Or better still, look up a friend who drives a "Fairfield." Take him to the Paige Agency and let him point out the new improvements quite as well as the old basic quality.

Let him tell you in his own words why this car is the greatest value for the money ever offered to the American

Proceed in the same way with any other light sixes that you have in mind. See if they will stand the test of such a critical investigation. Then, form your own conclusions. That's all we ask.

The Paige Fairfield "Six-46" was first announced last January. Since that time there has never been a single week when the factory could begin to keep step with its orders. Despite our greatly increased manufacturing facilities and doubled production, there is every indication that the over the "Six-46" will be repeated. We suggest, therefore, that you act quickly in placing your order.

How and Why,-

—the GOODRICH "Fair-List" Propaganda now saves Car-Owners, yearly, over $25,000,000 on Tires

THERE are 1,923,951 Automobiles now State-licensed, and running, in the United States.

Of these 1,803,951 are Pleasure Cars—i. e., exclusive of Trucks, etc. More than 90% of them, or about 1,623,555 use Pneumatic Tires.

Each car will wear out and replace, on an average, about one Set of Four Tires per year.

Therefore, the interest of each Car-Owner, as well as each Car-Manufacturite of the care particular and personally affected by the price

rer, each Car-Dealer, and Salesman, is vitally and personally affected by the price of Tires to Consumers.

Because,—Tires and Gasoline are the two big items of consumption in the operation of Motor Cars.

The Owner who used his Car 1,000 Miles less, per year, than he would have done, because of "the high-price of Tires and Gasoline," received that much less return from his entire investment in the Car proper.

The potential or prospective, Car-Owner who fails to buy a Car because of "the high cost of Tires and Gasoline,"—he who sells his Car and does not buy again because of "the high cost of Tires and Gasoline"—or he who, for the same reason, stores his Car and does not run it during a considerable part of the year, is a direct loss to—1st—Automobile Manufacturers, as a class.

-2d-Automobile Dealers, as a class.

—3d—Garage Owners, as a class.
—4th—Lubrication & Gasoline Manufacturers, as a class.

But,—he is a greater loss to TIRE Manufacturers, and Dealers, as a class,

-Gasoline and Lubricants, for instance, can be sold to the Owners of Motor Boats, Stationary, and other Motors.

But,-Automobile Tires can only be sold, in the ultimate, to the man who OWNS a Car, and who wears out Tires through using it.

VERY mile that each Automobile runs, means an automatic Sale of Tires to replace that mileage with new Tires.

But, all the Salesmanship, and all the Advertising, under the Sun could not increase, by a single Tire, the total sales of Tires beyond the number of Cars owned by Consumers, and the number of Miles each Consumer runs his Car

The Market for Tires is therefore limited, inflexible, to the number of Cars running, and the Mileage which each Owner is induced to run yearly.

Therefore, we opine that to promote greater Sales, and greater use, of Automobiles, few better incentives can be offered than markedly lowered cost, TO CONSUMERS, for Tires and Gasoline.

Just as we recognize that the only legitimate expansion open to the Tire Industry, as a whole, would be due to the Sale of more Automobiles each year to Consumers, with a greater average Mileage USE, per year, of each Car by each

That is why we favor the lowest possible price for Tires,-to Consumers, consistent with maintenance of high quality and a fair profit to Dealer and Mfr.

So this, then is a leading reason why WE initiated, and propagated, that Goodrich "Fair-List" Movement which we publicly announced in the press on Jan. 31, 1915, and which caused practically every Pneumatic Tire Manufacturer in this Country to follow our lead and bring his prices down to a fairer level.

THIS is also the reason why some Tire Manufacturers, who could not, or would not "meet" our BASIC prices for Pneumatic Tires (even though our "Fair-List" Propaganda obliged them to make heavy reductions off their former Lists) might erroneously suppose that "Goodrich" Tires have been cheapened in Quality, as well as in price.

Hence this explanation (to the Public, to Car-Manufacturers, Dealers, Car-Salesmen, Garages, and Tire Dealers generally) that we deem it "good business" to sell the best Goodrich Tires (of fabric construction) we have ever made, at the fairest price possible for such quality.

Hence, too, the following TEST offer to Consumers:

—We will cheerfully pay for any Goodrich Safety "Non-Skid" Tire, sold since our "Fair-List" price-reduction (announced on January 31, 1915) which when cut open shows any reduction in quality, in number of layers of Canvas, in thickness, or quality of Rubber, when compared with any other Goodrich Safety "Non-Skid" made by us, and sold at our higher prices current before the Goodrich "Fair-

And,—this is further to authorize any Tire-User to extend this Offer (at our expense) to any Tire Dealer, or Manufacturer.

We ask Car-Owners and Tire Consumers, in their own interest, to see that no "implication" of lowered quality in Goodrich Tires goes unchallenged,—just as we have protected their interests, for our own sake, through our "Fair-List"

BECAUSE of that GOODRICH "Fair-List" Propaganda, every Car-Owner who now buys any make of Tire sized 37x5, now saves, on each set of 4 Tires, an average of about $46.27.

-Every Car-Owner who uses 34x4 Tires, of any make, now saves through the Goodrich "Fair-List" Propaganda, an average of about $26.15 per Set of 4 Tires. -Every Car-Owner who uses 30x31/2 Tires, now saves, through the Goodrich "Fair-List" Propaganda, an average of about $14.70 per Set of 4 Tires.

Other sizes in proportion.

The 1,623,555 State-licensed Car-Owners who use Pneumatic Tires now save about 20% of what they last year paid for ANY make and size, whether they be Goodrich or Competing brands,—equal to more than $25,000,000 per year.

And, don't forget that this giant saving to Car-Owners was never mentioned to the Public by other Tire Manufacturing Concerns until the Goodrich "Fair-List" Propaganda made it imperative that they extend the Saving to Consumers on their Tires, or lose business to the Goodrich Co.

But, notwithstanding all this,—the fact which should loom largest to TIRE-USERS is the contrast of 10% to 40%, in prices, that still exists between the low price of the best Non-Skid Tires (of fabric construction) that money can buy, or the largest Rubber Factory in the World produce,—to-wit, GOODRICH Non-Skid Tires and all other "responsible" Tires in the field.

Compare these prices (in adjoining table) and see!

Then if you are not already a Goodrich User, do yourself (and us) the justice to buy at least one GOODRICH "Non-Skid" Tires.

Test that out for Quality, Mileage and Resilience against any other Tire, at any price, which you are now using.

The result of such Test will cause you to wonder why you ever paid more for Maximum Quality, Mileage, and Resilience than the Basic price of Goodrich Holbrook-Blackwelder Real ano Estate Co. Closes Contract on 100 Acres, Believed to Docks.

> PRICE IS ABOUT $2500 AN ACRE

Land Said to Be for Concern Which Will Operate Barge Line Between St. Louis and New Orleans.

It was disclosed yesterday that the Holbrook-Blackwelder Real Estate Trust Co. has obtained options on several tracts of land embraced in a body of 100 acres lying between Conduit avenue and the river front, and extending from Thatcher avenue on the south, to St. Cyr avenue, or point on the north where the C. B. & Q. tracks cross Riverview drive.

Presumption is that the 100 acre tract have been selected as a site for the docks and terminals incident to Federal Co. recently completed sevthe barge line, which W. J. Holbrook eral costly houses in Parkview, adproposes to launch, together the enterprise of the St. Louis Railway and Dock Co., of which he was organizer. The latter organization, incorporated only a few days since, contemplates the operation of belt line along the river front, between the Missouri River and Columbia Bottom Road, and Van Buren or Catalin streets in south St. Louis, a distance of approximately 25 miles.

Price About $2500 an Acre. Among the large holdings of the 100 acres on which the Holbrook-Blackwelder Co. has obtained options are those of W. H. Redemeyer and of Otto F. Stifel. The price involved is about $2500 an acre. In consideration of the option, the promoters are paying rentals of $100 a month, acrding to reports

Another large holding in this body with which negotiations are about to be completed, is that of Edward Evers, et al. The tract comprises 23 acres and is held at $3000 an acre it was stated at the office of the factory tone, according to reports Grether Real Estate Co., which has an interest in the property.

The Redemeyer holdings adjoin or rth extensive river front hold ings of the City of St. Louis, lying the north of St. Cyr avenue, extending from the Municipal Railway to the river.

MARKET CONDITIONS SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH'S REVIEW OF

FOREIGN SELLING CAUSES A SHARP DECLINE IN THE EASTERN STOCK MARKET

Active Shares Show Losses of Three to Eight Points on the Week.

FACTOR WAR LOANS A

Demand for Capital Abroad Causes Investors to Offer Securities.

By Leased Wire From the New York

By Leased Wire From the New York

Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 10—The Evening
Post in its weekly financial review
today, says:

"In April, when Wall street was in a state of enthusiasm, London sold our securities more heavily than at any subsequent time. The Stock Exchange took the liquidation philosophically, being convinced by that time that the condition of the forsign exchange market and of our home financial resources was such as to make redemption of these securities by our own people a simple task.
When, later on, this European selling slackened and all but ceased, the attitude of Wall street was almost that of remonstrating with the foreign holders for not continuing the movement. Probably that attitude was never altogether serious; because whatever else could be said of the European liquidation, it was bound at least to be a brake on a rise in prices. At all events, the foreign sales of the present week have not been regarded with the cheerful temper of last April. One reason doubtless is, that concerted selling from any quarter will always be resented on a market which has been weakened for other reasons, as the present month's market has been, and as last April's had not.

"There was also a somewhat unpleasant persistency about this week's operations; the long and repeated lists of 'seller thirties' in the bond market having an aspect of a progressive movement. The Stock Exchange which had lately made up its mind, from what seemed good evidence, that English investors in our securities did not wish to sell them, found the seeming change of policy unwelcome.

"But it still remains to be deter-

The Foreign Liquidation.

"But it still remains to be determined how far this present week's Luropean selling was a temporary movement closely connected with subscriptions to the new English war loan. It need not be supposed that Wall street's recent view of the foreign holder of our stocks and bonds was erroneous. If shrewd English investors had been determined from the first to realize on their 'Americans,' it is scarecly to be supposed that they would have waited until the Wall street 'bull movement' vas over and prices on a substantially lower level. The plain fact was that something had happened to change the English investor's attitude.

"In two respects the announcement.

change the English investor's attitude.

"In two respects the announcement of the new war loan contained surprises. Its interest rate was higher than had been expected, and the offer to convert the first war loan and the old consols into the new 4½ per cents on advantageous terms, if an equal amount of the new bonds were subscribed in cash, was something wholly new. It is true, the holder of these other Government obligations might not consider the basis of exchange sufficiently profitable in treelf to warrant a cash subscription which he might not have wished to make. But the ingenuity of the exchequer was shown in the further fact of its pledge that holders of the new 4½ per cents should be guaranteed, on that investment, any higher rate of interest which the Government might hereafter find it necessary to pay on another war loan. Since that privilege did not extend to the war loan of last November or to the old consols, the inducement was unmistakable.

The New War Loan.

"It is this unexpected development which caused the sudder increase in realizing sales by English holders of our own securities. But there is yet another consideration. Subscriptions to the war loan must be in today, and the full cash payment must be made before the subscriber can convert his older war bonds or consols into the 4½ per cents. That payment with its resultant advantages, becomes possible on July 20, and it is reasonably certain that either the 10th or the 20th was the main objective date against which cash resources were being accumulated by the realiging sales on our stock exchange. Next week will therefore throw light on two highly interesting questions—how much of a success the loan itself will be, and how the European liquidation in New York will be affected by the closing of the subscription list. "The remarkable fact about the dation in New York will be affected by the closing of the subscription list.

"The remarkable fact about the matter is that the market for exchange on London has thus far been so little influenced by these sales of our securities. Sterling rates have recovered from the lowest, but they range hardly one cent in the pound above the recent extreme low level of depredation. The rate is still abnormally in this market's favor, and altogether, gold imports have fallen to small dimensions, that is rather because the Bank of England's Ottawa reserve is virtually exhausted, than because of the slight strengthening of exchange. Under ordinary circumstances, geld would be moving in quantity, at such sterling rates as now prevail, direct from the Bank of England's London reserve to the New York market.

"Stocks were 2 to 8 points lower on the week. Yesterday's market was firm."

to make a formal estimate. The banks have subscribed 60,000,000 pounds sterling. But the really striking feature is the unprecedented number of applications in small amounts, making the loan a great patriotic demonstration.

The liquidation of American stocks in quantity, at such sterling rates as The provail, dreed from the Bank of North Market.

"Stocks were 2 to 8 points lower on the week. Yesterday's market was firm."

Laclede Gas Preferred Stock Sells at $91.50; Railways Issues Easier.

There was little demand for securities manifested in the session of the local Stock Exchange yesterday. Prices were about steady on the issues mentioned and sold.

Laclede Gas was firm on small trades at $91.50 and Wagner Electric sold at $145 or steady figures. The bank and trust list was steady on the issues mentioned. United Railways issues were lower, with the preferred stock offered a sharp fraction down at $22.62½ and the bonds easy on bids at $61.50 and offers at $61.87½. The bond list reflected a limited investment demand.

Weaver

ACK and forth the warp Back and forth the and woof of every human life, the shuttle of Time weaves hourly, daily, yearly-silently, ceaselessly, inevitably, the threads which form the pattern, structure, fabric of individual character. Each design is unique and distinctive from all other designs —in quality, expression and color effect—and whether the finished be "cloth of gold" rich in artistic design-strong. true, beautiful or coarsest weave of dull, spiritless drab entirely upon the weaver-YOU.

Who has not been profoundly influenced by the peace, harmony and beauty of a June twilight; the rarest riot of reds in the Western sky; the evening breeze hushed to a mere whisper through the pine trees; the atmosphere laden with the perfume of many

Who has not been stirred to the soul by the grandeur and magic charm of the summer sea, shimmering in the moonlight, its dancing wavelets stretching away like a jeweled zone, and recognized in the caress of its breezes, and murmur of its waters-in the glory, completeness and har-mony of the whole—the majesty and might of its

Who has not gazed into the great blue dome of Heaven, studded with its myriad stars —and for a little space ceased to be a minute human atom, in a little world so insignificant in a sea of worlds-to contemplate the sweep of a Universe of Worlds—unmeas-ured, and unmeasureable without feeling the profound truth: "The Heavens declare the glory of God."

Earnestly seek in your in-dividual soul the inspiration of the Great Designer. Patiently strive to master the intricate designs which face you, and fearlessly weave your own especial threads into the fabric of your life remembering, that whether you will, or no, you must inevitably weave a character of your own pattern, and to you alone is given the power to choose the design, quality, fineness and beauty of

AUTOMOBILE ECONOMY.

The automobile buyer that must economize can get far greater value for each dollar expended by purchasing a used car from us than he can by buying a cheaper new car.

$750 Will Buy a fairly good the ap car, while the same amount will buy a high-grade used car that cost $2000 new; has electric starter and lights and is in perfect order, and run less than ten per cent of its normal life. The Difference in satisfaction driving the

We Guarantee every used that is worthy of a guarantee, and those that are not we sell as they are for what they are. We never misrepresent a used car, and are just as careful of reputation when selling used cars as we are when selling Hudsons.

From $250 to $1350 is the range of prices, and we can give you far greater value for your money at these prices than you can get by purchasing a new car at anywhere near the same price.

These Signs Are Missing

These signs—For Rent—For Sale—do not appear on many leces of property; houses, lots, apartments, stores, lotts, but are isplayed in the columns of the POST-DISPATCH. In fact, many of the most in demand realty opportunities are heralded in this modern, effective, up-to-date method rather than in the old-fashioned sign way.

We're Selling It-

We started out to build the best home place in St. Louis-and to keep it the

Without any brass bands or auction sales, slowly but surely, we are selling it to the best type of home-building, home-loving people.

In Strong Hands

Do you know what it means to have a home place in strong, financial hands?

It means no auction sales, no price-cutting, no selling to speculators.

It means knowing that your neighbors will be desirable—will build the type and class of homes that will add to the value of yours.

We are selling the lots on this basis. Two more fine homes were planned last week by

Right now there is one block where you can't buy a lot at any price, another block where we can sell only two; another where we can sell only four.

Pretty soon it won't be a question of whether you want to go there, but a question of how much you'll have to pay to get into a Summer Necessity the birds may go at will to wallow This is their way of ridding themselves of lice and other parasites which infest the skin and feathers. Birds kept on free range will usually find a place to do their dusting, but sometimes the ground is so hard in the summer tha it is necessary to take a spade and dig up a few square feet in the shade of some building or trees, in order to make sure that the flock has a dust bath available. Even in the winter time the hens will do more or less dusting, as there are always some parasites to

Some poultrymen provide a dust bath in the pens by gathering up some road dust, but if there is any open ground at all a little spading in a cool, moist spot will be all that is necessary. The birds will soon work the earth into dust after t is broken up for them. During the vinter time a box of road dust in the ouse is all right. Feed Hopper for Saving Space

FEED hopper with two or convenient piece of equipment on almost any poultry farm. It may be front. By putting a slanting bottom in results, will mean a saving of space in in feeding. It is especially valuable in the fattening pen, where constant sup plies of certain feeds are needed under sanitary conditions. Any feeds not too large for the opening at the base may be fed in this hopper, but it is best suit ed for feeding the dry mashes, crushe ovster shell, grit and similar materials The dimensions should depend on the size of the flock. The sketch shows a nish a good harbor for them. When hopper in use that is 18 inches wide at the base, including trough, and 14 inche at the top, the trough being 4 inches wide. This trough in front also is 4 inches high. The hopper is 21/2 feet high in the rear and slopes to the front, thus shedding rain when the hopper is used

The association also issues a year book containing the name, address and variety of poultry raised by every member, which as an advertising medium is worth several dollars. By joining the Missouri State Poultry Association each member helps to boost Missouri poultry interests, and in that way is helping to make conditions better. The increased profits resulting from a better understanding of feeding and housing conditions, as explained by the experts at Mountain Grove, has been the means of securing more conveniences in the home.

World Competition With Best. Membership Increase Will Benefit Industry and Individuals, Secretary Says.

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Mo., July 10 -The poultry industry in Missouri is growing faster than any other branch of the farm work, for people enue from poultry and eggs during he two years of dry weather has been a great help in paying the gro cery and clothing bills, and in a ma-jority of cases has also helped to in-

If every poultry raiser could be listed among the association members its influence would be far greater than at present and more good could be accomplished in getting better prices for both pure-bred and market poultry, without increasing the cost of production.

The harvest season is a good time to renew membership or to join the association, so that everyone will be raising of better poultry and more by its annual State poultry show and by its influence in getting State appropriations for the experimental and educational work which is being done by the Missouri State Poultry Experiment Station.

fine table salt and four pounds of fine charcoal in the above mash.

Computation Basis, The basis for computing the number of yolks and whites produced by each kind of feed was that one pound of carbohyirates would produce 31-3 yolks; one ound of protein would produce 162-3 whites, this being the rate of the average hen, at the station.

It will be seen that from 150 nounds of duced, therefore, it is not a balanced ation. The extra yolks are built into fat In this way hens fed on corn alone get extra fat. A simple ration may be made as follows:

150 lbs. cracked corn....382

This ration would give best result where the hens have free range, because it contains no mash, thus requir-ing the hen to do the grinding of the food. The kind of food she gets on the range should be considered, however. If a hen has the ability to produce 24 ration, but is fed an unbalanced ration like corn alone, which produced two yolks for each white, instead of making yolks in order to produce 24 eggs, she makes only the 24 yolks, but can complete only 12 eggs. The same thing is true of the whites. Forty-five entries for the next contest

PRESIDENT LOWELL ADVISES COLLEGE MEN:

"He Who Holds Opinions Without Change Cannot Grow"

(From a Baccalaureate Sermon Before the Harvard Graduating Class of 1915.)

OST men in college do not make the utmost of their opportunities. Therefore one has a right to presume that you have not; and the curious thing is that those who come nearest to making most of their opportunities usually realize this fact. The world, I say, lies before you, and your chance of making it what you will depends upon your-

Energy is necessary for success, but energy is not enough. Energy will not produce any great effect unless it is intelligently guided-unless other qualities, come in-and the one quality I want to speak of is the quality of being able to judge one's self rightly in the world.

You often hear it said: "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." That is all very well if you put the accent on the first part of it. But with most people it means: "Shut your mind to any restraining influences, and then go blindly forward." Of course, I realize that there is danger of the opposite, danger that your resolution will be "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought," and that you will do nothing. There is the danger, very great among some people, of thinking so long on a subject that you reach no resolution whatever-that action may wholly fail simply because you do not reach any conclusion. Some men's minds cannot strike a balance of logic. Every argument to them has equal weight, as in the case of the man who said that all propositions were born free and equal, and were equally likely

In our day, in a time of very rapid movement, when one stimulus treads upon the heels of another in constant succession, and we are called upon to act and think all the time, the danger is of the other kind. The danger is in the formation of opinions without careful grounds for them, and without, mind you, any sympathy for the point of view of the man who differs from

The man of one idea who urges it in a purely fanatical way accomplishes much, and if he succeeds in life he gets very great credit even for a measurable success. On the other hand, the man with sound judgment who can see a thing on all its sides, that man has far more behind him and accomplishes far more than the man of narrow vision.

I believe that at the present time, particularly in this mobile world of ours, where the world fluctuates and we are carried rapidly from one opinion to another, the responsibility of every man for his opinion is perhaps the most important responsibility of life. Out of opinions come the issues of life-issues not only for yourselves, but for the community in which you live. Every man, therefore, owes it to himself to have high standards and correct opinions, and he owes it also to the community.

Now, we are not sending you forth into the world equipped with a complement of opinions handed out to you from the professor's chair and guaranteed correct. On the contrary, you have been furnished in this institutionif you have been furnished with anything worth having with the means of forming opinions of your own. A man who simply carries out what he has been taught has been taught little. A man who goes out from here with the confidence of being able to form his own opinions, knowing how to get them, knowing what the sifting of evidence is, and what the consultation of authorities means—that man gets something worth knowing. We have taught you here not so much truth as the way to truth, and that way you must use in the best way and under a deep sense of responsibility.

Assure yourselves, then, that opinions are real, serious and capable of forming the basis of action. Above all, do not deceive yourselves by letting your conduct or your interest form your opinions. Be honest with yourselves. It is bad enough to deceive someone else, but a man who deceives himself is a fool as well as a knave.

Do not make excuses for yourselves. When you do wrong, do not attempt to justify yourselves when you have not lived up to that which you ought to have lived up to, do not say to yourselves that you were hardly placed, or that the circumstances were such as to excuse your conduct. Change your standards; change your opinions of course. Any man who does not change his opinions has no growth in him. He who does not change his opinions is incapable of learning, for learning means constant change of mind.

Life tries every man by the standard he has formed or the standard he is capable of forming. It is first how high is the standard, and then how near he comes to living up to it. It is not enough to say that a man lives up to his standard; he is also judged by the standard. The great defect in the life of most people is that they do not look at it from a high enough plane. They look at it from the point of view of their own situation, of what is possible and attainable for them, instead of having an absolute standard of right and wrong.

It is said that some clergymen expressed to Lincoln the comfort they felt at the Lord being "on our side," and that Lincoln replied: "What I want to be sure of is that we are on the Lord's side." The nearest approach any one can make to seeing himself as God sees him, is to look at himself from the standpoint of a being infinite in knowledge, aspiration and compassion. If we did that, we should be as nearly Godlike as we imperfect all the benefits conferred by any game is that elusive and indefinable quality known as 'sportsmanship.'' If it were only for the sake of acquiring this excellent virtue I would have all boys and vouths taught to delight in the actual playing of the game.

We have got into the habit, due in large measure to the increase in the watching instead of the playing of games, of judging too much by results. There are people, I am credibly informed, who are made utterly miserable by the sight of their football or baseball club's defeat. Yet, rightly considered, the object of the game was not so much victory at all costs,

It is no special matter whether your mission is represented by the king, or the bishop, or the knight, or the pawn, but it does matter very much indeed that you should play the character assigned to you to the best of your power. measure of his ability. Once more, I may compare life to a game of eards, taking as my illustration the game that is rather too popular today—the game of bridge. Some men play for love and declare a heart, others again are playing for riches and make diamonds their suit, while others play boldly for power and position and bonors and then clubs are trumps. But no matter what call a man may make, he may be sure that in the end he will be over-called by a dec-

Spades will be trumps, perhaps sooner than most of us expect. When our unseen adversary outbids us with that call the question will be: Have we played the game, have we been straight, have we revoked, have we made the best of every card in our hand, have we kept to the rules that should have guided our play? Life consists not so much in holding a good hand as in playing a bad one well. Grumbling at the lack of aces and kings in the hand dealt out to us will not avail us when the rubber is over and the points on either side are added up. For at the final reckoning we shall not be required to have achieved a grand slam without an ace in our hand, but rather to have made the best of the cards we have actually held. Once more, in fact, all that is asked of us is to "play the game."-From "What of Teday?" (McBride, Nast & Co.)

How many people does one hear ascribing all their woes and difficulties to ill luck! Yet there is in reality very little luck at all about the game of life. One man may, it is true, be born into a higher position than another, with more favorable circumstances and with a more fortunate environment. But he is compelled no less than his poorer brother to "play the game" prop-

What Mother-Love Did for Baby Deaf Mute

After sixteen years of patient training, stricken child now talks, sings, plays violin and piano, and understands every spoken word though she can hear no sound-Will write and act in movie play depicting her career.

ULD anything appear more miraculous than to place a song before a girl who was totally deaf from infancy and hear her sing it at sight, giving each note its correct pitch, although she cannot hear a sound which her voice utters? Would it not seem incredible to learn that the same girl has mastered the delicate intonation of the violin, although the bow which she sweeps across the strings is silent to her afflicted ears?

Yet these accomplishments have been attained by Miss Jane Britton, an 18-year-old girl of Savannah, Ga., who was made a deaf mute when 2 years old by an attack of meningitis. In addition, she is a skilled pianist, and, although she has never heard her own voice, she speaks with such readiness and even with such intelligent inflection that one could spend hours in her company without suspecting that she was deaf.

She owes this remarkable victory over a handicap which many persons accept as irreparable to the infinite patience and devotion of her mother, Mrs. William Lee Britton. When the onslaught of the deadly disease had spent itself, Mrs. Britton discovered that her little daughter was totally deaf, and, moreover, that she was dumb, having forgotten the baby prattle she had learned before the coming of the malady

Instead of being reduced to despair by the child's misfortune, Mrs. Britton was inspired with a resolute ambition to make up in every possible way for her daughter's affliction. She formed the daring determination that Jane should be taught to do almost anything that any other child could accomplish. It was not enough that she should learn to speak. Many deaf persons have been taught to talk. The mother resolved upon the enterprise which to most persons would have seemed quixotic, of teaching her daughter to play the violin and piano and

The classic instance of a deaf musician is that of Beethoven, who composed some of his greatest works after his hearing had been so completely destroyed that he could not hear the orchestra which played them. But Peethoven had the use of his ears during early and middle life, and had learned perfectly to hear in his mind the notes which he wrote in his scores.

It would have been a vastly different matter if he had become deaf before his musical education could begin, and in that case the world would probably have lost his nine great symphonies. But Mrs. Britton, armed with the determination of a mother's love, was not daunted by the task which she set for herself. It was to teach her daughter to be a violinist, without ever hearing a note drawn from her instrument; to be a singer, to whom the notes of her own voice would be forever

To teach her to play the piano was relatively simple. The pitch of the keys is fixed, and it would be possible, merely by memorizing a series of muscular motions, to learn a sonata. The eyes would suffice perfectly to teach one that a note in a certain position on the staff is always the same note on the piano.

But with the violin, and particularly with the voice, the conditions are completely different. It has been said that a consummate ear is indispensable to the making of a fine violinist, for there are no frets on the finger board and one's tonal judgment must be relied upon to know where to stop the strings. This judgment is even more essential in singing, for the vocalist creates the sounds in her own throat and achieves differences in pitch by exquisite muscular

To teach these fine distinctions to her daughter, Mrs. Britton had but one means. This is the physical vibration set up in the body by sounds of various pitch. A person of ordinary sensibility can tell, by resting his hand on the case of a piano, whether the tone struck is low or high, by the relative strength and speed of the vibrations communicated to his fingers. Mrs. Britton had to teach her daughter, in order that she might sing and play the violin, to distinguish the infinitesimal difference between, for instance, middle C and the C-sharp half a tone above it. She cannot hear her music, but she feels it, in a perfectly literal sense.

With the astonishing results of Mrs. Britton's course of training before us, the amount of time and devotion she must have given to the education of her daughter becomes almost staggering. There is something uncanny in watching the girl read at sight and sing in correct pitch the notes of a song of which not the feeblest marnur can reach her ear; and to see her fingers playing deftly up and down the violin finger-board, without the faintest sigh of the strings ever penetrating to her brain. But what she has "Many deaf children are unable to talk because they deaf mutes. spoke, and that she had only recently learned to talk. Through the bodily vibrations set up by musical sounds she learned to dance. The strains of the maxixe and tango reach her through the tremors of the floor underneath her feet. Those who have danced with her declare that she keeps better time than most persons who can hear. She acquires the new steps with ready ease, . and takes part in all social functions without embarrass ment. Although she cannot hear, she can fluently take her part in a conversation. Her constant companions are persons with normal senses. As long as she can see the faces of those with whom she is speaking, she is at not the least disadvantage. Many of her acquaintances do not know that Jane Britton is deaf.

Mrs. Britton tells how she communicates with her daughter in a dark room. With a hairpin or pencil she writes what, she wants to say in the palm of the girl's hand. In that way she can tell her to get up and turn on the lights, or anything else. If Mrs. Britton is downstairs and wants to call her daughter she knocks on the wall.

Miss Britton is now at work on a moving picture scenario, by commission of a film company, for which she will act the leading role. It will deal with her affliction and the educational methods by which her mother has made it possible for her to achieve almost anything that a person with perfect hearing can do. A fiction story will be used as a vehicle for communicating to the public an informative treatise on the training of deaf-mutes.

Miss Britton was born in Birmingham, Ala., but her parents soon afterwards removed to Savannah, where, in her second year, she suffered a severe attack of meningitis. She had just begun to talk, and with the loss of her once known. She became both mute and deaf. As a compensation, her eyes have grown unusually keen and lustrous, and they are the means by which she "sees" what other people say.

The girl has for years been an enthusiastic attendant at moving picture shows, which she considers the greatest boon ever contrived for deaf mutes. It is a form of entertainment in which the eyes are everything, and the ears and voice might as well be nonexistent.

She obtained her opportunity to bebecome a writer and actor for the films through the fact that a movie company recently spent several weeks in Savannah staging a photoplay of Southern life, The manager heard of Miss Britton's accomplishments from some of her admirers, and called upon her. She impressed him so favorably that, when she confessed her ambition to write a scenario romance, with a girl afflicted like herself as the central figure, the visitor commissioned her to write the piece, and suggested that she enact the principal

There is no uniformity of opinion among swimming taken in through the mouth. It is gradually breathed those already described. The swimmer has either side teachers as to the best method to teach a beginner, out through the nose while the swimmer has his face up and the face turned so as to breathe naturally. In Until recently the broad stroke was always taught under water. The arm and leg movements work in this stroke the legs perform a forward and backward movement. When the legs are first bent the top one is brought up toward the chest, while the bottom one is bent back as far as possible. They are next kicked out straight into a walking position, and are finally brought*together straight in line with the body. At the same time the arms work alternately, extending forward as far as possible and brought down through the water. It is a rather difficult movement to acquire, but is a useful one. All good swimmers know this stroke as well as the others.

Until a few years ago the trudgeon stroke was invariably used for fast swimming, and is still employed by some. The action combines the same movement of the legs as in the side stroke. One kick of the legs is made as one arm is brought through the water. That is, if the swimmer's right side is up the leg movement is made as the right arm is brought down through the water. The breathing in this movement is similar to the crawl stroke, except that whenever the right arm is raised as described here a breath is taken, whereas in the crawl stroke the swimmer usually holds the breath under the water during several arm movements. One of the greatest hindrances in learning to swim is that the beginner usually flounders about and makes all sorts of fast, tiring movements. The movements in any of the strokes described above must be done deliberately. There must be no jerking or threshing about. The movement must be wide, strong, sweeping, rather than jerky. Especially must the preparatory movement be made

For example, in the breast stroke, back stroke, side stroke and trudgeon, the legs must be bent slowly. When they are extended they must not be extended with a jerk, but there must be a strong, wide, sweeping action against the water. The arms should extend well to the front and then

first, although there are many who have advocated the natural method that is used, by all animals, popularly known as

"the dog paddle." During the last few years a prominent swimming instructor has advocated the use of the crawl stroke first and has had great success in teaching

it. Others are inclined to think that whatever success may have been obtained from this method would have been equally successful if some other stroke had been taught with the same

Probably the most sensible opinion is that the best stroke in learning to swim must be an individual matter. There are certain natural movements which each person makes in the water, and they are of such variety that the swimming instructor needs to consider these peculiarities in order to teach a person to swim in the shortest time

Without doubt the first thing to teach a beginner is familiarity with water itself. It is useless to try to teach a beginner any of the swimming strokes until he gets rid of the fear of water. Beginners are thrown into confusion when a little water is splashed into their faces, and if they should happen to get their heads under water they go almost into hysterics. They do not seem to know how to hold the breath to prevent water from going into the throat. It is absolutely necessary that these fears be overcome first of all.

For this reason, the beginner should be allowed to splash around in shallow water and be made to hold his breath and duck his head under the water, at first for only a second or two. Then gradually the length of submergence should be increased until the pupil can hold his head under the water for 10 or 15 seconds; opening the eyes and searching for objects, if the water

Another fault in beginners is that when they raise their heads out of water they involuntarily try to wipe the eyes and face with one or both hands. The pupil must be taught to disregard the uncomfortable feeling of water upon the face or in the nose and ears. If the novice will observe an expert swimmer, he will see that he usually sniffs out any water there may be in the nose and gives his head a shake upon emerging.

The beginner should hold his nose when first practicing ducking. Then, after he becomes familiar enough with the feeling of water, he should without holding his nose gently lower himself under the surface.

After the pupil is so familiar with water that he does not mind getting it in his eyes and ears and nose, he is then in a position to learn to swim-but not before. He then may be taught either the dog stroke, the crawl stroke, the broad stroke, the back stroke or the side stroke-whichever suits his particular type of movement best. This may be determined by suspend- dependently; that is, the leg movement is very much through the water like paddles, in a wide, full swing. what his natural movements are.

German Women Secretly at Work for Peace

Significant revelations made by an American woman, delegate to Women's Peace Congress, who stole away from The Hague to Berlin to observe war conditions in Fatherland-Attended clandestine meetings of "committees" and heard how 750 women besieged Reichstag with crys of: "We want peace!"

OLLOWING the remarkable peace proclamation issued by the Social Democrats, the most numer- destine meetings! Merely discussion ous political party in Germany, the existence of of a way to protest against war, and another deepening rift in the military Empire's vaunted solidarity in favor of war is revealed by Miss Madeleine Zabriskie Doty, an American woman, who was declare Germany began the war, and a delegate to the Women's Peace Congress at The Hague.

Women of the Fatherland in large numbers, Miss Doty says, are in revolt against the endless slaughter of their husbands and brothers, and are organizing themselves into secret societies for agitation in behalf of peace. They are far from being hypnotized, asserts she, by the patriotic catchwords with which the militarist party arms by the rebel women and at once binds the men, rendered docile by their years in the army, to its sanguinary service.

The Social Democrats called upon the authorities to make known Germany's readiness to enter peace negotiations, and declared their opposition to wars of con-quest and annexation. Many of the women, Miss Doty reports, are even more radical—they are convinced that only the Empire's defeat in arms will preserve the true Germany from being throttled in the grasp of the mili-

Miss Doty tells herewith her experience in attending meetings of the women's revolutionary societies in Berlin, which she visited after the Hague Congress adjourned. She is a prominent New York attorney and a well-known writer for magazines. Her nation-wide activity in behalf of juvenile court reform has caused her to be made secretary of the Children's Court Commission of the Charity Organization Society. Her article is notable as a vivid picture of conditions in Germany after a year of warfare.

work for peace. True, the speakers denounce the invasion of Belgium, speak with loathing of the militarist spirit. But what American doesn't?

I seem to be living in the days of conspiracies and dime novels. And truly I am, for day by day the plot thickens. I am received with open nicknamed the "criminal." At last I have found the Germans I sought. Free, fearless people, whose love for the fatherland is so great that they dare protest. But these people are momentarily in danger. Their meetings are secret. We meet in out-ofthe-way places. I find that my telephone messages are intercepted. That perfectly harmless letter is never delivered. I am watched. It is hard to believe. Surely I have dropped back into the Middle Ages. I have to pinch myself to realize I am an American living in the 20th century.

I settled down in a German house. A modest menage, but every detail perfect. All Germany runs without friction. My host is a university professor, his wife an American. They are all hospitality, but their zealousness torments me. I am the heathen whose soul must be saved. From the day of my arrival to the moment of my departure, we have but one topic of conversation-Germany's virtue and America's sins.

A great pity seizes me for this tragic couple. Their thin, pallid faces bespeak wrecked nerves and tortured souls. Under the domination of a Government they adore, they dare not criticise. To question would be to shatter their world.

German culture, German arts, the Government, Bismarck, the Kaiser, the invasion of Belgium, the sinking of the Lusitania-in all things Germany is wisdom and righteousness. Surrounded by enemies, wicked monsters, Germany, the perfect, is fighting for her life. Better a thousand times that the Lusitania be sunk and Americans killed than let American bullets reach the allies to infliet death on German soldiers.

"American bullets!" Hourly the phrase is flung in my face. My protest that, as a peace delegates, I am fighting for the prohibition of traffic in arms, and the limitation of their manufacture to the Government, brings no relief. Upon someone must the pent-up fury and hate for despicable America be poured.

I feel like a drowning man being slowly pressed down under the waves. But pity for this tragic couple gives me patience. Behind the ostentatious display of bread and the sneering allusions to starvation and barbarity. I see fear and bitterness bred by fear.

In such an atmosphere of depression and suppression my free American spirit suffocates. I plan an escape. Somewhere in Berlin are free, fearless souls. These I must find. My hosts fear to let me venture out alone. An 'American woman was driven from a hosts do not tolerate such people. Then I remember the American Embassy and a young man friend. I plead a luncheon engagement. This seems safe, and in a cab, unaccompanied, I escape. To my countryman I explain my predicament. All absences are to be accounted for by him. Then alone, map in hand, I start out. I walk many weary blocks, slinking along side streets to avoid the complication of tramcar conversations. So my life in Berlin became a double one. I ate and slept, and was unregenerate in one part of the town, and only really lived when I escaped from respectability and, strange contradiction of terms, became a criminal fighting for peace. "Don't go to Germany," the American Ambassador at The Hague had said to me. "Americans are not wanted. You may get into trouble." I packed my bag with beating heart. Go I would, for why live unless adventure? But I spoke no German. How could it be managed? My head was full of tales of hardship and imprisonment. The Lusitania had just been sunk. I have never been to Germany. Berlin was a strange city. I pinned my little American flag and my Hague Congress Peace Badge on the lapel of my coat. My passport I tucked in my pocket. With a small hand bag and no printed or written word I started forth.

Fortunately, a Hungarian newspaper woman whom tionary talk was with a grayhaired mother of grown chilcluded corner of a quiet restaurant in Berlin. A burning flame, this woman. Her face stamped with world suffering. her eyes the tragic eyes of a Jane Addams. In a whisper she uttered the great heresy:

"Germany's salvation lies in Germany's defeat. If Germany wins when so many of her progressive young men have been slain, the people will be utterly crushed in the grip of the mailed fist." With this companion I discussed the collapse of the Social Democrats in the hour of crisis, the triumph of nationalism over internationalism. She attributes it to military training. During the period of service a man becomes a thing. Automatically he acquires habits of obedience, is reduced to an unquestioning machine. Mechanically, when the call came, the Social Democrats, with the others,

But with time has come thought. Also knowledge-knowledge that, in the first instance, Germany's war was not one of self-defense. But it is too late to rebel. Most of the Social Democrats are at the front. From month to month they put off protest as unwise. Only Liebknecht made himself heard. Now he has been caught up in the iron hand and sent to burg dashed into the street and addressed a regiment of soldiers. "Don't go to war, don't shoot your brothers," she cried. For this offense she was sent to prison for a year. Today she lies in solitary confinement.

But her suffering only inspires the others. In March, 750 women walked to the Reichstag. At the entrance they halted. As the members entered they shouted, "We will have no more war. We will have peace." Quickly the police dispersed them and the order went forth that no newspaper should print one word of the protest. Still the women work on. On April 8 an International Socialist Women's Congress was held at Berne, Switzerland. Ten nations were represented, including all the

The task of peace propaganda in Germany is gigantic. Neither by letter nor by press can news be spread. Both are censored. The work must be carried on by spoken word passed from mouth to mouth. Uncle Sam's Colossus of Roads

On June 1 last the United States attained its two-millionth automobile—Figures almost surpassing belief show gigantic development of industry which 15 years ago was scarcely in existence—Astounding sums are spent every year for purchase of new cars, tires, gasoline, lubricating oil, repairs and sundries :: ** ::

the automobile year just completed in the pended for tires, or $192,000,000 each year. monplace, and even billions familiar.

whirl in an orgy of millions and billions of dollars, of $1,500,000,000 a saturnalia of millions upon millions of gallons of gasoline and lubricating oil, millions of tires, and millions of accessories. To grasp them it is necessary, as is attempted in the following article, to reduce them from terms of one year to terms of one hour—and even then the figures remain almost beyond belief. And-mind you-15 years ago the automobile industry was a most insignificant infant, a weakling whose survival even was doubted by many shrewd business men.

every person in the United States had tried to go automobiling at the same time, each car in this country, on June 1, would have needed to carry 48-clearly an impossible number for most cars. Therefore, the 96,-000,000 inhabitants of the United States are compelled to take turns in using the 2,000,000 cars which the nation possesses

It was not until June 1, 1915, that we achieved 2,000,000 automobiles. That was for years an ideal Every 60 minutes the garages figure, toward which car builders and salesmen looked with longing. Now that it is attained, they probably no not consider one car to 48 inhabitants an ideal condition. Perhaps their revised vision of millennial automobile conditions would be something like 8,000,-000 cars, or one for every 12 inhabitants.

But, really, 2,000,000 cars is quite a lot. One way to attain a realizing sense of that number is to line up 2,000,000 cars across the map of the country, from New York to San Francisco. If we are moderate and allow each car 12 feet of space (the Ford wheel base is 100 inches, or 8 feet 4 inches, and that allows nothing for radiator and overhang in the rear) the total length of 2,000,000 cars would be 24;000,000 feet, or 4545 miles. That is a trifle more than the distance from New York to Berlin. It is 1362 miles longer than the railroad distance from New York to either San Francisco or Seattle. It is twice as great as the distance by railroad from St. Louis to San Francisco. It is four times as long as the railroad distance from St. Louis to New York-two round-trip journeys to New York, in fact. It lacks only 1100 miles of being as long as the distance between New York and Hawaii.

The Lincoln Highway, along its main line from New York to San Francisco, is 3384 miles. The line of 2,000,000 automobiles, set close together along this highway, would cover the entire main line and leave 1161 miles of automobiles to cover the Lincoln High-

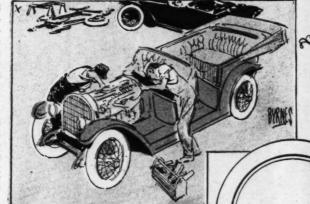

In this large number of cars there is, of course, included all types-runabouts to trucks. The carrying capacity varies from two to 60; but it is probable that the average is seven. As a matter of common knowledge, we may sensibly agree with an automobile authority that not more than four persons actually enjoy the use of each car each day. In other words, from 8,000,000 to 14,000,000 persons out of 196,000,000 inhabitants, ride in our 2,000,000 cars daily. No other sport can boast so large a number of

The cost of automobiling is a great sum; but it is not as expensive as war. England's war expenses are said to be $15,000,000 a day. The total cost of operating our 2,000,000 cars is estimated by an authority at $1,180,000,000 for 365 days, which is equal to 79 days of England's war cost.

Gasoline is required to the extent of 114,169 gallons every hour of the year to operate these cars, and

T has been bad form, for some time, to use the make our ears run smoothly. The cars wear out word "astounding." But no adjective less 1370 tires every hour; tires cost not less than $16 emphatic will do justice to the statistics of each, so that every hour in the 24 $21,920 must be ex-

The report upon the industry is couched in cold, it is fair, say manufacturers, to assume an average dry numerals; but to the average mind they seem to cost of $750 for each car, which would give a total

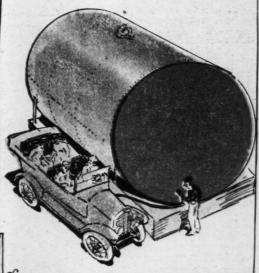

and repair shops collect

About 15 per cent of our cars go to the scrap heap each year. A loss of 15 per cent would reduce our total from 2,000,000 to 1,700,000. But Detroit alone will produce in 1915-1916 about 800,-000, and the remainder of the country will produce at least as many as Detroit. While many of the new cars will go abroad-are, in fact, being built on war orders -a fair percentage will remain in this country. It is very probable that on June 1, 1916, the total number of cars in the United States will be near 2,500,000. No recent figures are available showing the number of men employed in the construction of cars and in allied industries, but the number is obviously very great. It is estimated by a competent authority that the repair and garage cost on every automobile, exclusive of gasoline cost, averages $150 a year and employs about 300,000 men. This is a hint of the

"Emergency Dope" for Fighting Men

R. HIRAM H. SEELYE of Atlantic Beach, Fla., urges that the Medical Department of the Government supply each soldier and sailor on active service with an emergency anesthetic in the form of a tablet that he himself can take when wounded. In the New York Medical Journal Dr. Seelye describes. the agonies of the wounded man before the ambulance surgeons reach him, and points out that if he had such tablets in his first-aid packet all this suffer-

$21,920 is spent every hour ing would be avoided. The tablet he suggests would be made of acetanilid, 6 grains;

morphine, one-sixth grain; oil of wintergreen, oneeighth grain, and saccharine, one-eighth grain. Six or eight of these would be in his kit, with brief, plain instructions as to their use. "The wounded soldier," he writes, "would at once open his emergency kit, cleanse the dirt from the wound as instructed, and either cover the exposed bullet holes with an unbroken tablet, or insert one, whole or crushed to a powder, into a gaping, lacerated wound, and bind it up as usual. At the same time he would chew or swallow one of the tablets, to combat the pain that has already, or will soon, set in. If the pain was endurable he would wait an hour or so before deciding whether an additional tablet was necessary, but if the distress was intense, he would take a second tablet at once, or after a shorter period of waiting. Rarely would more than two or three doses be required temporarily to subdue the pain to a bearable limit. Then, if no outside aid should have arrived after four or six hours, as the suffering increased, the dose could be repeated."

And, he added, "the soldier with a headache, toothache, neuralgia, rheumatic twinges, colic, diarrhoea, cold, tonsilitis, fever, threatened pneumonia or other seemingly trivial affection may often abort it or get sufficient temporary relief by a resort to his emergency kit."

The Germans, with their genius for preparation in every detail, appear, from many accounts, to have supplied their soldiers with morphine hypodermics, to deaden the agony of wounds. Such emergency resources are necessary under military methods in which a wounded man may have to lie in the sun for hours until nightfall makes rescue possible

Yes, I would be glad to see "the mare," and I longed for the free sunlit world of which she was a part, as for a tonic. But this was, of course, impossible. So long as hard, undiscerning materialism demanded editorials editorials I must furnish.

But now as the blue-gray tops of Louisville sparkled with tiny points of light, and the window panes swam with pink-gold flame, I looked out over the still sleeping city and laughed aloud at my fears of the night before.

"A perfect day," I thought. "The favorite will surely win, and Blister and Uncle Jake and Mrs. Dillon will be made perfectly happy. A beautiful day, and a fitting one in which to fix the name of Tres Jolie among the equine stars!"

"I got you," said the boy, as Blister threw him up. Mrs. Dillon let go of the bridle. Tres Jolie stood straight on her hind legs, made three tremendous bounds, and was gone. We could see the boy fighting to get her under control, as she sped like a bullet down the track.

"I guess Pete ain't usin' the right langwige," said the boy called Chick, with a wide grin.

"Maybe she ain't listenin' good." added another boy.

"Cut out the joshin' 'n' get her blankets ready," said Blister with a frown. "I think we'd better start," suggested Judge Dillon.

"Aren't you terribly excited?" I asked Miss Goodloe, curiously, as she walked cool and composed by my side. My own heart was pounding.

"Of course," she drawled. "This girl is made of stone," I thought. The band was playing "Dixie" as we climbed the steps of the grand stand, and the thousands cheered until it was repeated. Hands were thrust at the Dillons from every side, and until we found our box, continued shouts of "Oh, you Tres Jolie!" rose above the crash of the hand. I had witnessed many races in the past and been a part of many racing crowds, but never one like this. These people were Kentuckians. The thoroughbred was part of their lives and their traditions. Through him many made their bread. Over the fairest of all their fair acres he ran and, save for their wives and children, they loved him best of all. Once each year for many years they had come from all parts of the smiling bluegrass country to watch this struggle between the satin-coated lords of speed that determined which was king. This journey was like a pilgrimage, and worship was in their shining eyes, as tier on tier. I scanned their eager faces

"He'll be here," said Judge Dillon, patting her hand. And even as a megaphone bellowed: "We are now ready for the thirty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby!" Blister squeezed through the crowd to the door of the box.

He was a rock upon which we imme diately leaned.

Even as they shot under the wire, he faltered. But it was very close, and the shrieking, hysterical grand stand grew still and waited.

I glanced at Blister. He was leaning forward, almost crouching, his face ashen, his eyes on the number board. Then slowly the numbers swung into view, and "1, 3, 7," I read. There was a roar like the falling of 10,000 forest trees. These words flashed through my mind: "We'll know about her when she goes the route, carryin' weight against class." . . Yes, we knew about her-now!

I saw Mrs. Dillon's lips move at Uncle Jake's ear. He raised his sightless eyes to the sky, his head nodding. It was as though he visioned paradise and found it good, indeed. I saw Blister's face turn from gray to red, from red to purple. The tenseness went out of his body, and suddenly he was gone, fighting his way through the crowd toward the steps.

I saw Judge Dillon's big arm gather in his trembling wife, and he held her close while the heavens rocked.

These things I saw through a blur, and then I felt Miss Goodloe sway at my side. She clutched at the railing, missed it and sank slowly into her seat. I but glimpsed a white face in which the eyes had changed from blue to violet, when it was covered by two

FROM RUNABOUTS TO OCEAN CRUISERS,

Who's who and what's what in the alluring sport in and around St. Louis-Craft cost from $200 to many thousands-Great improvements which add to comfort of cruising.

OST St. Louisans, although living in the heart of the greatest system of navigable rivers in North America, know very little even about their own Mississippi, except such as they see of it from the Levee district of the city itself. No inland city in the United States, with the possible exception of those on the Great Lakes, has the opportunity for motor boating and yachting which is offered by the Mississippi and the three picturesque rivers which flow into it within a few hours' ride of St. Louis by boat. Although there are about three hundred pleasure hoats on the river here, comparatively few St. Louisans have taken up the sport which has become very popular in almost every other American city.

The system of rivers, in the center of which St. Louis is situated, places one half of the states of the Union within reach of St. Louisans by water travel alone. In the vicinity of St. Louis, the Mississippi, Missouri and Ilinois rivers offer acenery which is surpassed nowhere in the Middle West, and few sections of the country enjoy a longer season when boating may be indulged in with com-

Several boats owned by 6t. Louisans have cruised down the Mississippi to the fleet of the St. Louis Yacht Club, foot of North the Gulf of Mexico, through the Gulf and around Florida and up the Atlantic coast, to the St.

Lawrence River, through Lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron, and Michigan and back to St. Louis by way of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers.

Motorboating on inland water is safer, it is declared, than traveling by land, and is less expensive than travel by automobile. The pleasure seeker who takes his or her outing on these rivers does not have to contend with the misquitoes and insects found on land. Mosquitoes are seldom seen on these rivers except for about half an hour just about sunset on lays when there is no breeze, and such days are rare on the river.

There are several St. Louis families who have their summer homes on the river, living in houseboats, some being equipped with engines and some depend- Folding table ing upon other boats to move them from place to in main cabin place. In these houseboats, as in many of the cruiser. ers and a few of the speed boats, all the luxuries of the seals at the side are home upon the land are enjoyed. Electric lights, baths, hot and cold running water, elegantly furnished cabins, roomy decks, comfortable berths and kitchens, fitted with cooking ranges and all modern conveniences are found on racing automobile with much less danger. There are many of these boats here, several of them having been entered in the recent regatta held at Hannibal. One of the newest and most attractive boats on the river is the "Pegasus," owned by the St. Louis Yacht and Boat Co., and built by them in their plant at Alton.

Then there are the speed boats which furnish all the thrills of the

The "Pegasus," a 40foot cruiser, has the general appearance of a scout cruiser of the United States navy. It is painted battleship gray on the outside, but the Inside, instead of being a floating arsenal, is equipped for the comfort of the occupants. It has accommodations for eight persons by night and twelve by day. The hull is of the V-bottom type, designed for speed and sea worthiness, and is heavily constructed, making it suitable for the Great Lakes or ocean cruising. It has a speed of 18 to 25 miles an hour and its builders say is capable of going from St. Louis to New Orleans in 60 hours of running time. The light draft of the boat makes it suitable for river travel, although it is said to be a perfectly safe vessel for ocean cruising. The boat has a large bridge amidships protected by an awning with drop curtains which entirely inclose the bridge when desired. The bridge has four permanent seats and two yacht chairs. The steersman controlls the boat entirely from the bridge. In the stern of the boat a self-bailing cockpit provides seats for five persons. In the forward cabin is a complete galley with cooking range, refrigerator, sink with hot and cold running water, work table and other articles for kitchen use. The main cabin has two upholstered berths which serve as seats by day. These berths, when extended, accommodate two persons each, and below them are individual lockers for each member of the party. The main cabin is equipped with a dining table of the folding type which may be used on deck. The owner's stateroom is equipped with two built-in beds. with box springs and mattresses, each wide enough to accommodate two persons. The boat also has a bathroom and a large clothes press.

The engine room is immediately below the bridge. The six cylinder engine is equipped with a self-starter and all modern equipment.

The "Sumac," owned by Louis A. Hoerr, is probably the most expensive cruising yacht on the river. This yacht, which was built this spring, has accommodations for twelve persons. It is equipped with a six-cylinder marine engine, with self-starter and an electric light plant. The boat is controlled entirely from the pilot house. The spacious decks and large cabin with two staterooms and galley, with quarters for the crew adjoining, provide the boat with all the comforts usually found on larger craft.

The boat is 50 feet long and 10 feet wide. The interior is finished in white enamel with mahogany trimming.

The "Shumac" has hot and cold running water, bath, folding Pullman berths and a large dining saloon. There are many other beautiful and spacious toats on the river. One of the most attractive is the "Mildred Marie III," owned by Col. C. C. Butler. Julian Green's "Dream Girl" is another boat which attracts attention wherever she is seen. The "Dream Girl" made a cruise to the coast of Florida and back last winter. Harry G. Sampson, who owns one of the larger yachts on the river, is now cruising up the Atlantic Coast, having made the trip down the Mississippi to New Orleans and through the Gulf of

Maxico. The "Huntress III," cabin cruiser owned by Otto Fritsch, and the "Goldie C," owned by George Cross, are both attractive boats. These two boats, with "La Belle," owned by A. Courvoisier, "The Ruth," owned by George Kirsh and Leo Schopp, and the speed boat, "Traveler," owned by Dr. Heuer, are among the better class of boats at the Carondelet Motor

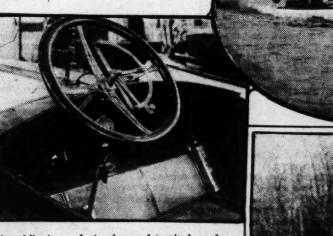

Members of the St. Louis Yacht Club who have large boats are August Kron, who is now on a cruise up the Illinois River on his 65-foot houseboat, "Norka"; Charles E. Lane, power houseboat, "Laura Lane"; W. A. Logan, "Bur Oak"; L. A. Perkins, fast

The club will also be accessible by the Riverview Drive (Columbia Bottom Road) and the Muricipal

Electric Railway. The high water this spring and summer has given owners of the larger motor boats new fields to explore. During the past seasons it has not been possible to cruise for any great distance up the Merameć River with the larger boats, but this summer many boats have gone for several miles up the stream. The Illinois River, with its clear water and beautiful bluffs, is the most popular stream for St. Louis boat parties.

The gasoline engine is responsible for the great increase in popularity of the motor boat during the last few years. A decade ago all power boats, like the first motor cars, were propelled by steam, and with the necessary boiler and engine storage for fuel, practically all the space was taken up with machinery which required an engineer to operate. The gasoline engine has now become fully perfected for motor boat use, and although in design and construction marine motors are different from automobile motors, they are as reliable and simple to operate as auto engines. Since the advent of the gasoline marine engine, motor boats in the United States have increased in number few hundred to about 500,000.

If these boats were on the continent, they would have been commandeered long ago by the belligerents, Although less frequently heard of, the mofor boat is playing a part in the war similar to that of the auto-

Just as the European war utilized the automobile on land, so the motor boat has proved of great value on the water to the opposing forces. It was the marine motor that made possible the successful submarine, and while it is true that the effectiveness of the submarine is due largely to accuracy in firing torpeioes, the torpedoes would be worthless without the aid of the motor, which drives the under-sea craft hundreds of miles to the point of vantage. Through the use of the marine motor a complete revolution of naval warfare is taking place.

Not only in the submarine is the marine motor playing an important part in the world war, but motor tank-ships for carrying fuel to the battleships and motor tenders for the submarines have proved of great value. Motor gunboats are being used on inland waters. Motor yachts are serving as dispatch ships and motor cruisers and launches as patrol boats. The Queen Elizabeth, greatest of the new English superdread-naughts, is fitted with two six-cylinder marine engines for electric generating purposes. The German Government is known to have been experimenting with 12,000 horse-power motors for driving triple screw battleships. Motor gunboats for use on the rivers are said to have played an important part in several engagements, although very little news of their operations has reached this country. Russia has a dozen or more of these boats. They are not pleasure boats converted into gunboats, but were built primarily for use in war. Some of these boats are 230 feet long, with a width of 42 feet, and are powered with twin 100) horse-power engines. Two six-inch guns and four 12-pounders comprise the usual armament. Austria has two or three boats of this type, which are being operated on the Danube.

England has a fleet of armored motor boats which has done excellent work in the fighting on the rivers of the continent. It has been mentioned in dispatches, and at latest report has escaped injury, although it had been under fire several times. Belgium and a large portion of Northern France, where the hardest fighting on the western front has taken place. are criss-crossed by navigable rivers, upon which armored motor boats and motor gunboats have played an important part.

It has been reported by various correspondents in Europe that last fall, when the Germans were struggling to overcome the difficulties caused by the extension of the flooded area near Ramscappelle, they used three powerful motor boats in making a night attack. These boats had in to rafts which held 50 or 60 nen each. The searchlight perated from the motor boats made effectual aiming of the Bergian guns impossible, while the guns on the boats poured a steady fire at the enemy. Success seemed certain, when a powplay by the Belgians, which enabled them to fire upon the men on the rafts. One of the motor boats went aground and a heavy French gun, brought into action, soon dispersed the attacking forces. The armored motor boat cannot be expected to withstand the fire of machine guns, but it is very useful for surprise attacks, and can move on before its range is found by the big guns.

In the hospital service motor boats and barges towed by motor craft are being used to good advantage, both on the eastern and western fronts. The German lines in Belgium have water communication with Berlin, and several of the outlying French hospitals are connected by rivers with Paris. Many private boats in England have been placed at the disposal of the hospital service. The advantages of the boat over a motor ambulance running over rough roads can readily be seen.

When the war began a call for private automotiles was made, and it was followed by a call for motor boats. A surprisingly large number of these boats was found to be suitable for military service. Motor boats have played a very im-portant part in rescuing crews of vessels that have been torpedoed.

The Oil Field's Greatest Foe-Lightning

Oklahoma tanks struck by storm bolts make enormous fires and cause great losses—Texas fields great losers during the recent storm season

IGHTNING has destroyed 57 great tanks of crude oil in the Oklahoma fields since April 1. Twenty-five of these were 15,000-barrel size, two were 37,500 barrels. The money loss is *stimated at nearly $1,000,000. Losses through lightsing in the Texas fields have been tremendous during the recent storm season. When a tank is struck by lightning the surface gas is ignited, which sets fire to the oil, and great billows of smoke mount above the tank to tremendous heights. The mass of lurid smoke is so typical that anyone who has once seen an oil tank fire knows it for what it is immediately. There is no visible flame and firemen are of little use in IGHTNING ignites the natural gas escaping from the big oil tanks and in this manner more tanks are fired than from the lightning actually striking the tanks. It is generally understood, too, that tanks full of green or fresh oil are more liable to be ignited than those containing dead oil. The fresh oil throws off a great amount of gas, which escapes from the big tanks and is easily ignited by an electric spark.

There is no doubt, however, but that the immense steel tan's naturally attract lightning. And this being true, the tanks would no doubt convey the lightning to the ground were it not for the fact that so much oil and gas and all of them were filled with dead oil.

It is said that oil men have rarely sustained losses by of the oil is thus saved.

some honest way of life, however modest; but now, and principally, by making reparation for at least one crime I've committed that's not irreparable."

He caught her quick glance of inquiry and met it with a confident nod as he placed between them the morocco-bound jewel case.

"In London yesterday," he said quietly, "I brought off two big coups. One was deliberate, the other the inspiration of a moment. The one I'd planned for months was the theft of the Omber

He tapped the case, then resumed in the same manner: "The other needs a diagram. Not long ago a Frenchman named Huysman, living in Tours, was mysteriously murdered-a poor inventor, who had starved himself to perfect a stabilizator, an attachment for aeroplanes which renders them practically fool-proof. His final trials had created a sensation, and he was on the eve of selling his invention to the Government when he was killed and his plans stolen.

"Circumstantial evidence pointed to an international spy named Ekstrom-Adolph Ekstrom, once chief of the aviation corps of the German army, cashiered for general blackguardism-with a suspicion of treason to boot. However, Ekstrom kept under cover, and presently the plans turned up in the German war office. That was a big thing for Germany; already supreme with her dirigibles, the acquisition of the Huysman stabilizator promised her ten years' lead over the world in the field of aeroplanes.

"Now, yesterday, Ekstrom came to the surface in London with those selfsame plans to sell to England. Chance threw him my way, and he mistook me for the man he'd expected to meet-Downing Street's secret agent. Well-no matter now-I got the plans from him and brought them over with me, meaning to turn them over to France, to whom, by rights, they belong."

"Without consideration?" the girl inquired shrewdly.

"Not exactly. I had meant to make no profit of the affair-I'm a bit squeamish about tainted money-but under present conditions, if France insists on rewarding me with safe conduct out of the country, . "I do believe!" I shan't refuse it. Do you approve?"

She nodded earnestly. "It would be worse than criminal to return them to Ekstrom."

"That's my view of the matter."

"Those go back to Mme. Omber. She has a home here in Paris that I know well. In fact, the sole reason why I didn't steal them here was that she left for En. gland unexpectedly, just as I was all set to strike. Now she insisted, eyeing him steadily.
